Waitsburg Grocery Under New Management

'AFTER 32 YEARS, IT'S TIME FOR A CHANGE'
 NEW OWNERS WILL TAKE OVER WAITSBURG GROCERY BEGINNING NEXT WEEK.

By Brianna Wray | THE TIMES

WAITSBURG—Main Street's staple the Waitsburg Grocery is under new management effective Oct. 1. Jamie Allen and Jessie Smitt have agreed to purchase the business from Dan and Trina Cole.

Dan Cole won't be idling, however. "I've got three other businesses, so I'll have plenty to do," said Cole who also owns the local internet service provider Touchet Valley Communications; LC Applicators, a commercial and residential professional spray service; and is part-owner of Whiskey Canyon Sports Bar.

"I'm 57 years old and it's time to back off a little bit and let someone fresh and young come in and take it to the next level," Cole said.

New owner Allen isn't positive on exactly what the next level is, but has ideas in mind. Allen's boyfriend, Smitt, is also part-owner.

"He'll be in and out, helping with the books and is the muscle moving heavy things," she said. "We want to put in a couple cafe tables to give people a place to have a sandwich if they're in a hurry."

But that's not all on the menu. "We have people onboard who want to get back in the kitchen, so I can be on the floor while they go cook," Allen added. "That'll be our first, biggest change: homemade items in the deli."

"It's 39 degrees this morning, it's soup time," said Allen whose lade will be out as early as next week for daily soup selections.

The menu is not the only thing getting an update. New flooring has been laid throughout the store. "We bought this place 32 years ago, in April," said Cole. "We took everything out and we put a brand new floor in then and had brand new walk-in refrigerators put in and we opened in June of 1986."

Thirty-two years later, the floors had seen some wear and tear. Taking advantage of the transition, the store is being refreshed.

"We're going out with a bang and putting in a brand-new floor for them," Cole said. "I did not pay for the floor this go-round, though. The Masonic lodge did because they own the building."

Overall, regular shoppers can expect much of the same. "We're going to try to get some new things in," says Allen, "but Dan's done a great job of having what everyone needs and we don't want to ruin that."

Waitsburg Fire Cause: Unknown

THE TIMES

WAITSBURG—After an investigation by the Walla Walla City Fire Dept., officials have ruled that the fire that destroyed the former Hugs Gifts & Collectibles building at 109 Main St. in Waitsburg is undetermined. The building was destroyed in the Sept. 9 blaze.

Walla Walla Fire Chief Bob Yancey said it may have been an electrical issue, but the damage was so extensive that little evidence was left to make a certain determination of a cause. Yancey and WW County Fire District 2 Chief Neil Henze did say that enough information was gleaned to determine that the fire was almost certainly not intentional or suspicious.

No injuries were reported in the fire, and the building was mostly vacated when the blaze broke out.

Crews from Walla Walla County Fire Districts, 4, 5, 7 and 8 along with Columbia County Fire District 3 and the Walla Walla City Fire Dept. were called to the scene shortly before 9 p.m. The fire was under control before midnight, but was still smoldering the next morning.

DAYTON CANDIDATES' FORUM OCT. 4

DAYTON—The Dayton branch of the American Association of University Women will host a candidates' forum on Thursday, Oct. 4, from 7 – 9:30 p.m. at the Liberty Theater.

Candidates in three contested races in Columbia County have agreed to appear. Columbia County Sheriff: Joe Helm and Jeff Jenkins; Columbia County Commissioner: Charles Amerein and Dain Nysoe; Columbia County Treasurer: Carla Rowe and Cathy Schochet;

Candidates customarily give a five-minute speech followed by a moderated question and answer session. This is not a formal debate event, and questions from the audience are not screened in advance. ## PIONEER PORTRAITS

Ten Years Ago-October 2, 2008

Tomfoolery by Tom Baker: News of the week that kept the talking heads on TV buzzing was the possible melt-down of the economy. With the stock market taking a couple of "down" days in the 500-point range, and a 777-point plunge on the day that Congress was meeting to solve the problems of the economy, it had some of the historians comparing it to the 1929 market crash. You will find about as many folks willing to discuss the roots of the "adjustment" as there are commentators. But one common thread seems to be the sub-prime mortgage fiasco.

Students looking for 2008 Homecoming ideas-theme: the "70's"-need look no further than their parents for the authoritative information on Pet Rocks, disco, toga parties and what is now termed "classic rock and roll". Waitsburg and Prescott high schools will celebrate Homecoming Week Oct 6-11 and will lampoon that fabulous decade in the process.

Twenty-Five Years Ago-September 23, 1993

They stood in line for more than an hour—1052 of them, equalizing the whole population of Waitsburg. A long wait but so worth it. "This is the social event of the year" John Brownell said of the 35th annual Salmon Barbecue sponsored by the Waitsburg Commercial Club Thursday, Sept. 16 at the Community building. The Commercial Club, with an able assist of the Waitsburg Lions Club, served up about 1100 pounds of salmon, covered with that secret recipe barbecue sauce—a recipe said to be locked in a safe at an undisclosed location near Waitsburg.

The results of the third fishing derby sponsored by the Blue Mountain Bass Club Aug 21-22 at Lyons Ferry Marina. Otto and Barb Krouse took first place while Bob and Jan McQuary took second. Third place was taken by George Wright, of Walla Walla.

Fifty Years Ago-September 26, 1968

Photo Caption: No mean feat was accomplished by Waitsburg's Henry McKinney this past weekend. He and his faithful beater, Ron Kenney, are shown with the doe that they gagged on the Tucannon with Mac's trusty bow and arrow. Game department reports on 5 deer taken in this area. Both the hunters admitted that it took additional skills to gag one "Indian fashion."

An old Waitsburg landmark is coming down and Walter Cohoon of Waitsburg provided us with some interesting information about some of the Waitsburg history. The history of a building used as a laundry started in the 1860's when a school house was built on Waitsburg Main Street. It was later moved to where Preston Hall now stands and served as a grocery stor there. Somewhere after the turn of the century, the building was moved to where the City Garage is located, a spot just north of the building that is now being torn down. L. E. Bruch was the original laundry man in Waitsburg and his business was bought by T. E. Cohoon.

Seventy-Five Years Ago-Oct 1, 1943

Mrs. George Bateman of Waitsburg announces the marriage of her daughter Frances to A. W. Perkins of The Dalles.

The pet parade was held on Saturday in conjunction with the school fair. Those in the first division winning prizes were: First, Kay Hawks as a Red Cross nurse; second, Victor Langdon with banty chickens, third Jean Gibson with a baby in a doll buggy.

In the second division, first, Betty Dunn with a dog and wagon; second, Harvey and Charles Danielson as Indians on a Shetland pony; tying for third were John Greigar with a rabbit and Charles Dowell with a bulldog.

Rev. and Mrs. E. W. Hillis were surprised by a group of neighbors and friends Friday afternoon on their 36th wedding anniversary.

One Hundred Years Ago-Oct 4, 1918

Averill and Charley Monnett, Charley Vollmer and James Stonecipher left Friday for Pullman where they will enter the State College this year under the new S.A.T.C. provision.

Misses Helen and Velma Keiser and Messrs. Ivan Bruce, Marvin Hales, Victor Harrington and Mario McAninch were in Dayton for the Saturday night dance.

Postmaster S. F. Patton returned from Vera, Wash. Sunday, where he had been for several days looking after his apple crop on his young orchard. He says that his young trees will have 6000 full boxes of commercial apples this season.

The pupils of the Central school are busy this week collecting fruit pits, net shells, and tinfoil for use in the manufacture of army equipment.

One Hundred Twenty-Five Years Ago Oct 6, 1893

The Minnick Bros are among our very best farmers. They have just finished threshing their crop, and with the following results: their barley made an average yield of 101 bushels per acre; their fall wheat between 45 and 50 bushels per acre. Their threshing was done by Feller and Contonwine, who turned out as high as 1962 sacks per day.

The initial social hop of the season was given in Orwary Hall on Saturday evening. The attendance was not large, but pleasant.

A train ran into a bunch of horses between this city and Bolles Junction on Tuesday morning and killed four.

Albert S. Dickinson and Miss Addie Denney were united in holy and divine bonds of wedlock on Sunday, Oct 1, 1893 at the home of the bride's parents in Spring Valley.

OBITUARY

ROBERTA "ROBBIE" THELMA SKILES

DEC. 16, 1941 — SEPT. 22, 2018

Roberta "Robbie" Thelma Crandall Skiles passed away at home Saturday, September 22, 2018. She was born on December 16, 1941 in Tacoma, Washington, to Robert Keeny and Thelma Loveen Talkington Crandall. Upon the untimely death of her mother at birth, Robbie and sister, Judy, along with their father, lived with their paternal grandparents, Walter and Josephine Crandall in St. Johns, Oregon (Portland) and maternal aunt and uncle, Jim and Laureta Mazzine in Aberdeen, Washington. The family moved north of Vancouver, Washington, in about 1954 and Robbie attended the three room (eight grades) Baker Grade School. They lived in a three-story pumice block house built by her father and attended two years at Ridgefield High School. Robbie and Judy learned to clean nails from lumber their dad salvaged from the Vanport Flood which he used to build the house and they spent many hours "tamping" concrete as he raised the structure. In 1956 her father married Lois Elizabeth Hanf who became a beloved stepmother to the girls. The family then returned to the Portland suburb of Parkrose. Robbie attended nine months of business college in Portland, her first secretarial job being with the Social Security Administration in Yakima, Washington. Robbie married Norman Lynn Skiles on August 11, 1962 in the Salmon Creek Church. The couple had two sons: Stacy Leon, born

February 23, 1965 in Pullman, Washington and Wayne Keith, born November 8, 1966 in Ellensburg.

The family moved to the Walla Walla area in 1968 where Robbie worked as executive secretary to the Dean of the Faculty at Whitman College from 1976-1996. She retired in 1996 with her husband to a three-acre farm in wheat fields east of Waitsburg, Washington. She was a member of the Presbyterian Church, serving as Clerk of Session in College Place and later, in Waitsburg.

Robbie enjoyed reading, gardening and walking. She also enjoyed quilting. She was an excellent seamstress and created many beautiful, one-of-a-kind quilts as gifts for many family members and friends.

Robbie is survived by her husband, Norm of 56 years; son, Stacy and his wife Halima and their two children, Kaiden and Cheyenne, currently living in China, son Wayne and his wife, Linda and their son, Joshua of Mead, WA.

A memorial service will be held at the Waitsburg Presbyterian Church at 5th and Main Street, Waitsburg, WA on Saturday, October 13, 2018 at 1:30 p.m. Memorial contributions can be made in Robbie's name to Waitsburg Presbyterian Church, P.O. Box 397, Waitsburg, WA 99361 or Women's Cancer Fund, Partner Services-WA, 345 North Main Street #449, Clawson, MI 48017-0449.

Inspired by similar events in Walla Walla and other parts of the country, the Port of Columbia and the Dayton Chamber of Commerce began planning for the Cash Mob in August. Four businesses expressed interest in hosting Cash Mobs.

The Depot was randomly chosen at this month's Cup of Joe networking meeting as the first host.

The Port and the Chamber plan to hold Cash Mobs monthly.

VOTE FOR CRIDER

Dear Editor,
An advertisement for the Stroe candidacy appeared in the Union-Bulletin on Sept. 17. This announcement touted the many volunteer hours Mr. Stroe has put into the community, his time at the Walla Walla County Sheriff's Office, and his current position as Director of Security at Whitman College. The ad then stated, "The most powerful person elected is a Sheriff – you should know the person you are voting for!" The implication being that the voters of this county don't know who Mr. Stroe's opponent is. I find this puzzling, because 49.25% of the voters in the primary chose Undersheriff Mark Crider, so I guess he's well known.

The voters appreciate and honor Mark Crider's 10 years of honorable service in the U.S. Navy as an F-14 Tomcat Radar Intercept Operator (RIO). Having first-hand knowledge about the difficulties of obtaining the coveted wings of a Naval Flight Officer, I can say the accomplishments Mark Crider made in the U.S. Navy as a RIO, programs and budget manager, and Naval Officer, are nothing to dismiss with a simple "Who?" as is portrayed in Mr. Stroe's advertisement.

The voters recognize Mark's impressive 22-year career with the FBI; not as a D.C. bureaucrat but as a down-in-the-trenches field agent who served with distinction in the Milwaukee and Spokane Field Offices. It was in the Milwaukee Field Office where Mark was ordered by his chief to perjure himself in a case involving a disabled combat veteran who was dismissed from becoming a Special Agent due to the loss of a hand in a training accident. As a firearms instructor, Mark had personally witnessed this veteran perform all handgun functions necessary to become a Special Agent. Instead of bowing to the demand of his chief, Mark sided with the veteran. That man is now an FBI Special Agent and Mark was honored by the Federal Law Enforcement Officers Association for his courage. In a campaign where claims of integrity have been thrown about by so many, Mark Crider has demonstrated it in spades.

Mark Crider has all the relevant law enforcement experience to be Sheriff. That is why the Walla Walla Commissioned Deputies Association and International Association of Firefighters Local 404 have endorsed him. He is already at the Sheriff's Office helping forge a successful path forward. Let's make him Sheriff and keep rollin'!

SUPPORT NYSOE FOR COMMISSIONER

Dear Editor,
Community vitality is essential. Without it we jeopardize our future. If you ask your friends what it means, you will hear a variety of answers. Jobs, careful use of public funds, support for new and existing business opportunities are essential to our future. I believe in supporting Dain Nysoe for County Commission. He will foster community vitality so we not only survive, but thrive.

Back when I managed Seafirst Bank here, I got the opportunity to do home loans after some training; I was excited because I could see how it would help folks buy that first home or get a larger home for a growing family. However, at that time our precious small town was struggling. We had high unemployment; we lacked living wage jobs and we lacked vitality. That limited our options when it came to home loans. The only loans available were 20% down conventional loan and FHA. Underwriters were not willing to take a chance on Dayton's stability of a home's value. We can look around and see where towns were but are no more. They did not have the vitality to move into the future. Covello comes to mind. I want our communities to be here 100 years from now and still have a bright future.

I am glad Dayton is doing better than Covello did in the past. If we want to continue to have a healthy community that holds a future, we need to support vitality. I'm glad that Columbia Pulp is bringing jobs to our area. The windmills brought 70 permanent jobs to town. In addition to jobs, the windmills pay 33.94 percent of taxes collected in our county. I appreciate their contribution to our tax base and look forward to the assistance Columbia Pulp will have in both jobs and supporting our tax base.

I value our past and history. My husband's family came here in 1870. I don't want to just look back; I also want to look to the future with optimism. I strongly support Dain Nysoe. I believe that his education, career and family's history in our county make him the best selection for commissioner. His family came here 135 years ago, and they have a long history of public service. He wants to continue the family tradition of community service, so let's put him to work. Please join me in supporting and voting for Nysoe in November.

SUPPORT URGED FOR NYSOE

Dear Editor,
I have known Dain Nysoe and his family since we were classmates in grade school. Since then, he has served his country and this community for many years, always willing to listen and to do what is best and necessary. Nysoe knows the issues facing this region. He understands the need to plan for the future while respecting the past, and he deeply cares about the land and the people. He knows how to work with both the City and the County government to solve problems and to create opportunities for the community.

Being a County Commissioner is not a glamorous job. It requires hard work and an understanding of complex government financing and the issues impacting this community, whether they be infrastructure, like roads, bridges and the fairgrounds, or community services, like mental health and substance abuse. Dain's experience of working and managing a large ranch, serving in both county and city governments and having a master's degree in public administration, makes him a highly qualified candidate for the Commissioner job.

Dain Nysoe, through his service on Dayton City Council and his active campaigning, has shown that he is willing to do the work that needs to be done. I highly recommend Dain Nysoe for Columbia County Commissioner. I know he will continue to work hard for our community once elected. He is honest, diligent and caring. He deserves your support.

Dayton School Board Report

SEPT. 19, 2018

By Michele Smith | THE TIMES

DAYTON—Dayton Elementary Principal Denise Smith and High School Principal Kristina Brown both gave reports during the Dayton School Board meeting last week.

Sept. 19 was a late start day, and a trainer for the iReady assessment tool was on hand to help staff with the data, and how to use the software appropriately for assessing students in Reading and Math.

Elementary Principal Denise Smith said the first benchmark testing for iReady is complete.

“We are starting to dig into the data, to develop groupings to meet the needs of students,” she said. “We will be having data meetings by grade levels to discuss how best to meet the needs of all students and support the learning of students ready to move further.”

Teachers are “knee deep” in implementing “Ready Math” and are doing a great job of teaching the curriculum, Smith added.

Smith said the PTSO sponsored Walk-a-Thon will take place on Sept. 28 at the high school track, from 9 to 10 a.m.

High school principal Brown said students in Shayna Hutchens’ Youth and Government Club are planning debates between Dain Nysoe and Chuck Amerein, who are running for Merle Jackson’s seat on the Board of County Commissioners, and between Joe Helm and Jeff Jenkins, who are running for county sheriff. The debates will be held Oct. 2 in the high school auditorium during the seventh-hour period, at 2 p.m. They are open to the public.

The Youth and Government Club will also be hosting an eastern regional meeting in October.

Brown also told the Board of Directors she has formed a Student Assistance Team. The team meets once a week after school and has created a school-wide referral system for students in need. The school staff is invited to attend the meetings and make referrals, she said.

Brown reported that 13 FFA students participated in the county fairs.

Homecoming is earlier this year, said ASB President Neylon Bryan. She said the Homecoming dance will be held in Waitsburg, on Sept. 29. The theme is “Purple Rain.”

“It’s pulling together pretty well,” said Bryan. The next project for the ASB is promoting school spirit, and there will be daily themes to help boost school spirit.

Facilities Improvement

Superintendent Doug Johnson discussed several grant applications. He said applications for two grants have been submitted. One is a grant in the amount of $33,000 that would go to replace door handles with ADA compliant levers. The other, in the amount of $102,000, would go to repair the sloped roof on the high school, and provide exterior gutters.

Two other grants are in process: one for health and nutrition, which could go toward the purchase of backstops for PE classes in the elementary and high schools. The other is a “Small School Modernization” grant.

Johnson said the new water heater is on-line and Honeywell will start testing the system. Strobes and speakers are still a work in process, he added.

Athletic Combine

Johnson said 15 athletes have turned out for high school volleyball, and the same number, or more, in the middle school. Eleven athletes from Dayton and about the same number in Waitsburg have turned out for football. Eleven students are in cheerleading.

An interview will take place Sept. 25 for middle school boys’ basketball coach.

Johnson said transportation is going pretty well for practices and games, considering there is still a need for bus drivers. Practices have been shortened by 5 or 10 minutes, which can’t be helped, because of transportation logistics back and forth between Dayton and Waitsburg.

Student enrollment

“We budgeted for 384 students, but the current school enrollment stands at 371,” said Johnson. “It’s disappointing, currently. We have fewer school age kids living in our community,”

Johnson said he hopes student enrollment will increase when the new Columbia Pulp plant near Starbuck becomes operational.

Facility use

Johnson discussed the facility use policy with the board and said that instituting a fee for use might be a good idea. The District would charge, at the most, $25 per event held on school grounds, he said.

Director Dave Bailey said he thought if a profit generating event wants to use school facilities they should pay a fee for that.

Budget

Business Manager Paula Moio said the District has had a windfall from federal forest payments and from the Perkins Grants which gives the District a net gain of $112,000, and which will reduce the deficit from $223,000 to $111,000.

“We will still need to take the deficit in enrollment into account,” said Moio.

Action

The Board of Directors approved an amendment to the residency requirement for the District’s superintendent. They also approved a contract between the District and the Columbia County Health System to share nursing services.

Report from Dayton City Council

SEPT. 12, 2018

By Michele Smith | THE TIMES

DAYTON—City Administrator Trina Cole told the Dayton City Council last week that her staff has been working to tie up “loose ends from the summer,” which includes the Washington Street FEMA project, and continuing work on the proposed water and sewer projects. Work also continues on the 2019 Preliminary Budget, she said.

Cole said the city has just been approved for a $211,000 grant from the Regional Transportation Planning Organization, RTPO, for sidewalks on South 3rd Street, from Main Street to School Bus Lane.

“We are actively pursuing a lot of grant opportunities,” she added. Cole said she is also looking into a grant for playground equipment

The city had submitted an application to the Department of Ecology for an inert waste site permit, but the DOE has required additional information. After the city’s engineer, Anderson Perry & Associates, completes the report, it will be turned over to the Public Works Department for re-submission, said Cole.

“We’ve made a lot of progress in street improvements,” Cole told the council.

Work continues on the S. Washington St. Road repair project, with paving to take place during and after the week of Sept. 24.

Mayor Craig George said the project will be completely finished by Oct. 17, according to the terms of the city’s contract with Humbert Asphalt, Inc.

The city has received a loan award of up to $1 million from the state’s Public Works Trust Fund for the proposed wastewater treatment plant project, and the city is actively speaking with landowners about acquiring land for the project, he said.

Mayor George’s authorization to sign a contract with Mark Lanning to remove tree limbs and debris from a tree at 338 E. Main St. was approved by the city council. The work will be done by Sept. 22, and the city’s tree committee will tour Main Street on that day, to see if additional work is necessary.

Mayor George’s authorization of a contract with Correct Equipment Co. to repair and replace chlorinators for the city’s No. 2, and 3 water wells, and authorization of a contract with College Place Heating and Cooling to replace the Wastewater Treatment Plan digester boiler, were approved as well.

Mayor George’s authorization to sign an inter-local agreement for planning services with Columbia County was approved, as well as inter-fund transfers in support of the 2018 Budget, regarding park and cemetery equipment replacement reserves.

The city council approved an agreement to transfer the Hedwig-Davis bequest to the Columbia County Rural Library District, and amending the city’s annexation agreement with the Columbia County Rural Library District, to allow the CCRLD to be the custodian of the bequest.

The city council also authorized a public works contract with Humbert Asphalt Inc. to perform pavement repairs on W. Washington St. and N. Cottonwood St., beginning at N. Front St., and ending at W. Patit St., associated with the relocation of the street within the public right of way. Funds will come from city reserves and the capital improvement fund.

A change order to the FEMA street repair project, for additional street curb work on E. Washington St., was also approved by the city council. An amount of $6,300 is available from the capital improvement fund for that, said Mayor George.

Mayor George said he will be on a vacation beginning on September 24, and Mayor Pro Tem Delphine Bailey will serve in his absence.

DW Falls to Medical Lake, 44-0

DAYTON-WAITSBURG REACHED THE RED ZONE FIVE TIMES, BUT STALLED EACH TIME

By Ken Graham | THE TIMES

MEDICAL LAKE, Wash.—The Dayton-Waitsburg football team fell flat Friday night here, taking a loss to Medical Lake, 44-0, in a non-league game.

Sticking with their emphasis on running the ball, DW was able to get nothing going on offense and quickly fell behind, 21-0, in the first quarter. The team trailed 31-0 at the half.

“Dayton-Waitsburg came out flat against a hungry and aggressive Medical Lake football team,” said Coach Troy Larsen. “We had four players serving partial game suspensions, and when you are already thin, it took a toll on us in the first half both physically and mentally.

“Offensively we started to move the ball both in the air and on the ground and just couldn’t get it in the end zone stalling in the red zone five times on the night,” Larsen added.

For the game, quarterback Brayden Miller completed five passes on 12 attempts, for 49 yards. He was intercepted once.

Running back Damien Johnson carried the ball 11 times for 60 yards. Chris Andrews had nine carries for 26 yards. Andrews also had two pass receptions for 26 yards.

“Brayden Miller continued at QB and made some smart throws and is continuing to get better with the read-option offense,” Larsen said. “Defensively we got run over for the first time this year, with Medical Lake being more aggressive and physical.”

Larsen added, “It was a good non-conference game to get our eyes opened and start demanding ourselves to play to the whistle on every play. We head into our homecoming week against Mabton, and we are going to keep working hard to eliminate the dumb penalties and play with confidence.”

This week’s homecoming game is Friday night in Dayton, starting at 7 p.m.

Dayton on Tour Oct. 6

HISTORIC HOME TOURS, MAIN ST. OPEN HOUSE, OKTOBERFEST AND GALLERY EVENT ALL IN STORE

By Michele Smith | THE TIMES

DAYTON—The Dayton Historical Depot Society is inviting you to come out October 6, from 1 to 4 p.m., and take a tour of some of the beautiful historic homes in Dayton.

“This year, a select group of four homes, from the late 19th and early 20th centuries has been chosen,” said Dayton Historical Depot Museum Director Tamara Fritze. “The homes showcase excellence in historic preservation and restoration, and creative modern interpretation of diverse architectural styles.”

Fritze said the homes on this year’s tour include: the Blessinger/Neal home, which is a cross-gable modified Queen Anne Victorian home, the Columbia Chronicle Building, built in 1908, the Richardson House, which has long been considered one of the finest homes in Dayton, and the Dantzscher Building, a two-story building on Main Street, that originally housed a tailor shop, millinery, and drug store, with rooms to let on the second floor.

Tickets for the Home Tour are $15, or $10 for Depot members. They can be purchased on the day of the tour beginning at 10 a.m., at the Dayton Historic Depot, 222 E. Commercial St.

The Boldman House Museum, at 410 N. First St., the Palus Museum, at 426 E. Main St., the Smith Hollow Schoolhouse Museum, at 113 N. Front St., and the Historic Depot Museum, are all open between the hours of 1-4 p.m., during Dayton on Tour.

“The Dayton Chamber of Commerce is thrilled to invite entrepreneurs from across the region to tour Dayton’s Historic tree-lined Main Street, said Chamber Director Melissa Bryan.

The Main Street Open House, which is new for this year, is to encourage the sale of currently available spaces along Main Street, said Bryan.

Bryan said the Chamber and the Port have been promoting the Main Street Open House far and wide, throughout the region.

She said Kathryn Witherington, the Port’s Economic Development Coordinator, County Planning Director Meagan Bailey, Joe Jacobs from the Walla Walla Small Business Administration, and Jenna Bicknell, of Craft3, will be on hand from 1 p.m. until 4 p.m. at the Noble Hunt, as a resource for people interested in doing business on Main Street.

Bicknell is able to help with financing for individuals and entrepreneurs who don’t qualify for standard bank financing, said Bryan.

The Main Street Open House will take place from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Pacific Power is sponsoring the Fourth Annual Oktoberfest at the Blue Mountain Station, also on October 6.

The Waitsburg Commercial Club is hosting the beer garden at Oktoberfest, and the Market Co-op is providing Bratwurst, red cabbage, German potato salad, apple strudel, caramel apples and cider.

Witherington said the Autumn Kid Zone, featuring a straw maze, straw pyramid and pumpkin patch will be set up at the Blue Mountain Station during the month of October, and for Oktoberfest, as well.

At Blue Mountain Station, visitors can check out XO Alambic’s new brandy and some new offerings in the market, itself, said Market Co-op Manager Patricia Sacha.

Other activities during Dayton on Tour include horse drawn carriage rides from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., with the carriage departing from the Dayton Historic Depot. Also, screenings of the movie “The House with a Clock in its Walls” will be held at the Liberty Theater at 3 p.m. and at 7:30 p.m.

Astronaut and Whitman College Alumnus Dottie Metcalf-Lindenberger will be at the Wenaha Gallery at 10:30 a.m. during Dayton on Tour.

The gallery is currently showing a retrospective of astronaut Alan Bean’s work. Bean, who died in May, referred to himself as “an artist who went to the moon.”

Jewelry artist Venita Simpson, and acrylic pour artist Joyce Klassen, will also be on hand to present their artwork at the gallery that day.

Look closely and you can see the print of his moon boot in his work, she said.

Chocolate, cupcakes and cookie bars, along with a free Steve Henderson note card and music by Roy Anderson, will be offered to visitors at the gallery that day.

Waitsburg School Board Report

SEPT. 20, 2018

By Emma Philbrook | THE TIMES

WAITSBURG—Present at last week’s meeting of the Waitsburg School Board were Chairman Ross Hamann and members Christy House and Lisa Morrow. Member Russ Knopp, while not onsite, attended remotely with help from a video-chat app.

The Board heard presentations from two Waitsburg High School FFA officers who discussed their chapter’s success at the local fairs. Thirteen members earned a total of over $20,000 from their projects this year, as well as earning the highest showmanship accolades at both the Columbia and Walla Walla County Fairs.

Officers of the Waitsburg High School ASB were also on hand to detail their plans for the school year, including attending an upcoming leadership seminar in Pomeroy.

A vote was taken to determine which board member would fulfill the position of vice-chair, formerly occupied by Marilyn Johnson. Christy House was selected unanimously for the role.

The athletic combine is in need of assistant coaches for boys’ and girls’ basketball this winter. Those interested in the position are encouraged to contact Stephanie Wooderchak at swooderchak@waitsburgsd.org.

In a follow-up to The Times’ previous coverage of the issue, the unused chimney in the elementary school has been successfully capped off. Contrary to earlier fears, only a few bats were found inside and these were already deceased.

Projects undertaken with recent levy funds are proceeding on track and slightly under budget, according to a representative of Design West, the firm overseeing the construction. If enough funding is left over after air conditioning is installed in the auditorium, the contractors will install AC in the band room, as well.

The new Breakfast at the Bell program, in which students and teachers at all grade levels share the morning meal in mixed groups, is off to a good start. Moving ahead, secondary principal Stephanie Wooderchak says that “we’ll start to do more activities as we start to get used to each other.” In the meantime, staff say that participants of all ages are enjoying themselves.

The new field house at the football field will be dedicated at a ceremony on Oct. 19 at 6:15 p.m. An open house will follow, during which attendees can tour the new facility. For those who want to make an evening of it, the newly renovated kitchen in the elementary school will also host an open house beginning at 5:15.

Student enrollment remained relatively steady, but an interesting new metric has just been released concerning “choice transfers,” students who opt to attend school in a district other than their assigned ones. The Waitsburg School District has 21 more students who have chosen to transfer into the district than out of it.

On a related note, concerns over low student-tied funding have led the board to postpone the hiring of a school resource officer until there is an opportunity to “see how the enrollment plays out.” While $68,000 was allocated in this year’s budget to hire an officer, the district would have needed to come up with an additional $7,000 to fulfill its contribution to a resource officer’s salary, and there would be no guarantee that these funds would be available next year.

Wooderchak suggested purchasing a system of punchcode locks and security cameras to help secure the entrances to each of the school buildings during operating hours.

“At least with that type of thing,” she noted, “the expense wouldn’t be ongoing.” Superintendent Jon Mishra agreed to look into the feasibility of such a purchase.

An update was given on the Dayton-Waitsburg sports combine. Many attendees expressed frustration with the poor communication between the two districts. Charlie Barron, who sits on the combine’s advisory board, says that “it feels like our input is not worth a dang.”

He noted that friends in Dayton had the idea that “Waitsburg makes a decision and that’s all there is”, while Christy House expressed the view that “Waitsburg will say ‘we’ve already talked about it’ but Dayton will give us pushback on everything”.

It was generally agreed that this sort of squabbling was ultimately hurting the young athletes, who by all accounts “are having a blast” in the combined sports program. The discussion ended with calls to make sure “the whole story is...being passed along” between the two combined districts.

At the end of the meeting, board members interviewed two candidates for Marilyn Johnson’s vacated District 1 seat: Jason Kaehler and Joe Rhymes. The board ultimately selected Kaehler, a local father whose children are enrolled in Waitsburg Elementary.

“I think it’s huge having a vocal parent,” Kaehler said. “I want to raise my kids in this great community.” He added that attending that night’s board meeting had further increased his conviction that he would be able to make a positive difference in the district.

“Sold on a Monday” by Kristina McMorris—The sign is a last resort. It sits on a farmhouse porch in 1931, but could be found anywhere in an era of breadlines, bank runs and broken dreams. It could have been written by any mother facing impossible choices.

For struggling reporter Ellis Reed, the gut-wrenching scene evokes memories of his family's dark past. He snaps a photograph of the children, not meant for publication. But when it leads to his big break, the consequences are more devastating than he ever imagined.

At the paper, Lillian Palmer is haunted by her role in all that happened. She is far too familiar with the heartbreak of children deemed unwanted. As the bonds of motherhood are tested, she and Ellis must decide how much they are willing to risk to mend a fractured family.

Inspired by an actual newspaper photograph that stunned the nation, “Sold on a Monday” is a powerful novel of love, redemption, and the unexpected paths that bring us home.

“Iris and Lily Series” by Angela and Julia Scipini—In Book One, Iris and Lily are the lovably ingenuous youngest daughters in a family of fourteen, starving for attention as they struggle to survive in the chaotic

Capotosti household. The explosive rage of Carlo, their hot-blooded father; the submissiveness of Betty, their overwhelmed mother; the abuse meted out by half a dozen domineering brothers; the inaccessible ken of their older sisters; all join forces to make the home a minefield of emotional pitfalls for the two neglected girls, whose natural exuberance is squelched by the fear of punishment and the dictates of Catholicism.

Told in alternating chapters in the voices of the two protagonists, sprinkled with episodes of comedy and tragedy that will make you laugh and cry, this is the story of every woman who has memories of what it is like to be a little girl, then a young woman on the cusp of adulthood, filled with hope and expectations.

“Iris & Lily: Book One” is the first in a three-volume series. Read also “Book Two” and “Book Three”, or read the entire novel in the ebook “Iris & Lily: The Complete Series.”

“The Ghostwriter” by Alessandra Torres—Four years ago, I lied. I stood in front of the police, my friends, and family, and made up a story, my best one yet. And all of them believed me.

I wasn't surprised. Telling stories is what made me famous. Fifteen bestsellers. Millions of fans. Fame and fortune.

Now, I have one last story to write. It'll be my best one yet, with a jaw-dropping twist that will leave them stunned and gasping for breath.

They say that sticks and stones will break your bones, but this story? It will be the one that kills me.

“Solar Reboot” by Matthew D. Hunt—Set predominantly in the Pacific Northwest, this book tells both the story of a mother attempting to figure out her role in a new society, and a family trying to reunite across a world ravaged by solar flares and natural disasters. This book is perfect for readers who enjoy dystopian fiction but also those who enjoy character building and development- plus, it really hits close to home.

“Suicide Club” by Rachel Heng—The basic premise of this book is that human beings live forever. It appears to be random, and the main character is one of these humans. The novel is set in motion when she sees her father, and is drawn into the world of the Suicide Club, “a network of rebels who reject society's pursuit of immortality, and instead choose to live—and die—on their own terms.” This book is an excellent look at the human psyche, and an even better conversation starter... Would you live forever?

“His Majesty's Dragon” by Naomi Novik—This book is the first in a series that are a fictional retelling of the Napoleonic Wars. These stories are fictional in that while they retell the Napoleonic Wars and immerse the reader in much of that time period, there is also one major difference: All countries have an aerial core, composed of dragons. This book is an excellent read for lovers of history and for lovers of fantasy alike!

TEENY MCMUNN: MY RECIPE BOX

Glazed Lemon Zucchini Bread

I received this recipe from Heather Hiebert, one of the now-retired owners of the well-known Patit Creek Restaurant. In conversation she mentioned she had this great zucchini bread recipe. I asked her to please share it with us.

This recipe calls for cake flour. I don't usually buy it unless I know I am going to use all of it. I have shared the substitution and have used it as well with success. Here it is again: Take one cup of all-purpose flour, spooned and leveled. Remove two tablespoons, and then add two tablespoons of cornstarch to the all-purpose flour. Sift together before using.

I know I will make this for gift-giving for the holidays, so I best get it done while zucchini is available.

Heather noted at the bottom of her recipe that she doubles it and it makes three loaves. She also adds two tablespoons of poppy seeds. I asked her if it was ok to add her phone number as a contact, because she is selling pies. She said that would be fine. Heads up!! When you listen to the phone message, push 5 to get to her private line. Heather - (509) 382-2771

INGREDIENTS:

- 2 c. cake flour
- 1/2 tsp salt
- 2 tsp baking powder
- 2 eggs
- 1/2 c. buttermilk
- 1/2 c. canola oil
- 1 1/3 c. sugar
- 2 Tbsp lemon juice
- zest of 1 lemon
- 1 c. grated zucchini

GLAZE INGREDIENTS:

- 1 c. powdered sugar
- 2 Tbsp lemon juice
- 1 Tbsp milk

DIRECTIONS:

Mix flour, salt, and baking powder in a medium bowl and set aside. In a large bowl, beat eggs. Then add oil and sugar until well blended. Add lemon juice, buttermilk, lemon zest to this mixture and blend all together.

Fold in zucchini until it is mixed well.

Add dry mixture to the wet mixture and blend all together until well combined. Pour batter into greased 9 x 5 loaf pan.

Bake at 350 degrees for 40-45 minutes. While still warm, make glaze and spoon over the bread. Let the glaze set up before cutting and serving.

ENJOY!

* On Oct. 13, 1792, the cornerstone is laid for a presidential residence in the newly designated capital city of Washington. It was called the "White House" because its white-gray Virginia freestone contrasted strikingly with the red brick of nearby buildings.

* On Oct. 8, 1871, flames spark in the Chicago barn of Patrick and Catherine O'Leary, igniting a two-day blaze that kills up to 300 people and destroys 17,450 buildings. Legend has it that a cow kicked over a lantern and started the fire, but in 1997, the Chicago City Council exonerated Mrs. O'Leary and her cow.

* On Oct. 14, 1913, over 400 workers die in a massive coal-mine explosion near Cardiff, Wales. Nearly 500 miners were brought up safely, but with no further signs of life, mine officials decided to seal the mine, entombing the bodies.

* On Oct. 12, 1997, songwriter and performer John Denver dies when his experimental amateur aircraft crashes into Monterey Bay on the California coast. Known for hits like "Rocky Mountain High" and "Take Me Home, Country Roads," Denver sold more than 32 million albums in the U.S. alone.

Boeing's Venture into Hypersonic Jetliners

Courtesy photo

By Don C. Brunell

Last spring, Boeing revealed its proposed hypersonic passenger airliner, which would fly much higher and faster than the Concorde—the only previous supersonic commercial airplane.

For reference, supersonic jets fly over the speed of sound (660 mph or Mach 1), while hypersonics surpass Mach 5 or 3,800 mph.

Boeing told the annual American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics conference held in Atlanta that its sleek new airplanes would travel at Mach 5, enabling them to cross the Atlantic Ocean in just two hours and the Pacific in three while cruising at 95,000 feet.

By contrast, the Concorde, built jointly in Great Britain and France, and in commercial service from 1976 to 2003, flew at 1,354 mph. Only 14 supersonic transports (SST) flew passengers. They were operated by Air France and British Airways.

While one of the retired Concorde was donated to the Museum of Flight at Boeing Field and is a Seattle tourist attraction, Washington's first experience with supersonic aircraft was disastrous. It almost sank Boeing and Seattle.

In the 1960s, American and European airplane makers focused on speed rather than passenger capacity. The competition was fierce and heavily funded by national governments.

Boeing beat out Lockheed for the government-funded contract to build a prototype American SST at its facilities in Seattle. Boeing even lined up 26 airlines which said they would order over 120 planes. However, in 1971, Congress pulled the funding and the SST "mock-up" (2707) became known as "the airplane that almost ate Seattle."

When federal money dried up, Boeing reduced its workforce by more than 60,000 in the Puget Sound region. That's when the infamous billboard appeared near Sea-Tac airport that read, "Will the last person leaving Seattle - turn out the lights."

After the SST debacle, Boeing at first shifted its focus to passenger capacity, and then added fuel efficiency when petroleum prices soared. To replace the SST on overseas flights, Boeing developed the 747 capable of carrying three to four times the number of passengers as the Concorde without its associated environmental concerns—sonic booms and ozone layer depletion.

Until the Boeing announcement in Atlanta this year, it has focused on subsonic jets, which cruise up to nearly 600 mph and at the altitudes below 37,000 ft. It continues to be a highly lucrative market.

Reuters recently reported that Boeing has net orders totaling 581 aircraft through August 2018, up from 487 toward the end of July. That includes 90 orders in August for 737 variants from leasing firms and unidentified customers.

What would make Boeing invest in "ultra-fast" jets, considering the past U.S. history in supersonic airliners? The answer is technology and competition, which are advancing rapidly.

The company strategy is to compete in both the autonomous and hypersonic aircraft markets developing over the next 20 to 30 years. As suborbital rocket flight advances, faster flights are an emphasis again. Both SpaceX's Elon Musk and Virgin Galactic's Richard Branson plan to adapt their rockets for global flights, reaching from New York to Sydney in just an hour.

Boeing says hypersonic aircraft production, including autonomous piloting, could begin within the next 20 years, and a prototype could appear within the next decade.

"Though Boeing hasn't decided the final dimensions, the airplane (which doesn't have a name yet) would be larger than a business jet but smaller than a 737," Kevin Bowcutt, Boeing's senior technical fellow and chief scientist of hypersonics, said on Wired.com.

What about the future of pilots? Boeing says not to worry. Its 2018 Pilot & Technician Outlook projects 790,000 pilots will be needed over the next 20 years--double the current workforce, and the most significant demand in the outlook's nine-year history.
