Former Waitsburg City Hall has new buyers

By Lane Gwinn | THE TIMES

WAITSBURG — The Waitsburg City Council voted unanimously to accept a new offer for the former Waitsburg City Hall building at its regular meeting on January 15. Todd and Carrie Alexander's offer included a letter introducing the couple and their interest in the building. The Alexanders have many interests, including food, wine, travel, design, art, and music. They recently bought and renovated the JL Elam bank building in Milton-Freewater, built in 1906. It sat empty for over ten years before the couple purchased it. The couple created Atelier Freewater, an inviting wine-tasting and event space, keeping the Elam Bank's old vault and adding a commercial kitchen. They plan to renovate the Waitsburg property as a mixeduse for residential and retail, including two guest rooms, an owner's apartment upstairs, and one guest suite downstairs. On the ground floor, the couple will repair, renovate, and reuse existing architectural materials to maintain the space's original character for a retail, art, and wine-tasting room. Todd Alexander is known as an innovative winemaker for his projects and wineries, including Force Majeure and WeatherEye. Carrie works with him, handling sales and hospitality and sharing their creative vision. The couple said they had been interested in the building for some time. However, the building went under contract in October 2024 before they could make an offer. Wanting a project in Waitsburg, they purchased the Whoopemup Hollow Café building next to American 35. The Alexanders have begun cleaning and are working on their concept for that space. The building was last under contract to Chet Childers of Burbank, who hoped to turn the building into a beer spa with hotel rooms or apartments on the second floor. After completing an extensive feasibility study, Childers decided not to close per the conditions under the sales agreement. The building offers several challenges beyond those expected when renovating a building built in 1889. The cityowned property is one of only two commercial buildings on Main Street with steps from the sidewalk to the main floor entrances. New owners will be required under the Americans with Disabilities Act to create an accessible entrance. Potential buyers have also had issues with an easement between the owners of the Hubbard Law Offices next door and the former city hall. A loft apartment above the law offices is only accessible through the city hall building. "First, the fact that there is an easement through the building is a non-issue for us. We are aware of the tenant in the loft, that is no problem," wrote Todd Alexander in the offer. At the city council meeting, Waitsburg residents Paul and Karen Gregutt said they knew the Alexanders and were confident they were the right buyers for the historic building.

Dayton City Council meeting update

Published Since 1878

DAYTON — Mayor Roger Trump called the Dayton City Council meeting to order at 6 p.m. on January 14, 2025. Trump and council members James Su'euga, Joann Patras, Michael Smith, and Shannon McMillen attended the meeting at Dayton City Hall. Kyle Anderson was not present, and Laura Aukerman joined the meeting later.

Sheriff Helm reported 565 incidents in December, consisting of 134 traffic stops, 23 other traffic calls, one DUI investigation, and 16 traffic accidents. Helm reminded everyone to drive appropriately, considering the winter weather. Helm also announced the retirement of Deputy Lee Brown on December 31, 2024, after serving 32 years in law enforcement. Helm is seeking to fill two vacant positions. Columbia County Commissioner Ryan Rundell informed the council that the county must now have a separate coroner position rather than have the prosecutor fill that position. He said the county arranged with Macy Lindley to fill the position. He said the computers at the county's Department of Licensing will be offline for maintenance on February 14, 2025, and no tabs or licensing will be processed on that day. The council appointed Matt Zanger to the Historic Preservation Commission as part of the consent agenda. Zanger's term expires on December 1, 2028. The council considered appointing a mayor pro-tem to act as mayor in his absence. A permanent appointment was deferred until the full council was present, and Smith was appointed to the interim position. Public Works Director Ryan Paulson said the city was regrading and graveling the alleyway between the Historic Depot and Main Street. He will pave the alley when funds become available. Paulson said he was working with the Transportation Improvement Board (TIB) to ameliorate some of the problems with the Otta Seal project by resealing with 3/8" gravel to make a smoother road surface. The project would focus on a prioritized list of streets. The plans for the project have not been finalized.

YWCA HONORS EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR'S 28 YEARS OF LEADERSHIP ON HER RETIREMENT

THE TIMES

WALLA WALLA — The YWCA Walla Walla Board of Directors announced the upcoming retirement of Anne-Marie Schwerin as Executive Director after over 24 years, effective spring.

Schwerin came to the YWCA as Chief Financial Officer in 1996, following a career in public accounting and agribusiness management. Under her leadership, YWCA Walla Walla has significantly expanded its impact, enhancing programs and services for individuals and families in Walla Walla and Dayton

Key achievements include the introduction of comprehensive domestic violence support services, women's empowerment initiatives, and childcare programs supporting hundreds of local families.

"Anne-Marie's tireless dedication and inspiring advocacy, along with strong donor and volunteer engagement, have made YWCA Walla Walla a cornerstone in our community," said Becky Kettner, Board President.

During Schwerin's tenure, YWCA Walla Walla achieved several key milestones and accomplishments that have strengthened the organization's capacity to serve the community:

- Expansion of Services: Under Schwerin's leadership, the YWCA significantly expanded its programs, including introducing comprehensive domestic violence support services, a women's empowerment initiative, and childcare programs supporting hundreds of local families in need.
- Increased Community Outreach and Advocacy: Schwerin led successful efforts to raise awareness and advocate for critical issues, such as gender-based violence, racial justice, and economic equality. The YWCA's public policy work has made an enduring impact.
- Strong Capital Funding and Financial Stability: Schwerin played a pivotal role in securing critical capital funding and overseeing the management of grants that have helped build a solid financial foundation for the organization. This strong financial framework has ensured the sustainability of YWCA's programs and services, allowing it to weather economic downturns while continuing to grow in its mission.

WAITSBURG TOWN HALL'S FLOOR SHINES

WAITSBURG — The Waitsburg Town Hall has been closed for January by the board of directors to refinish the facility's floor.

The board hired Jonathan Abbey, a graduate of Waitsburg High School, to do the work, including removing floor vents and patching the hardwood floor. Abbey replaced previously repaired floorboards to reweave new boards into the original staggered pattern.

Abbey will complete sanding and sealing the floor, and the hall will reopen in February after the varnish has cured.

Karen Huwe

An area previously patched without staggering the planks will be replaced to unify the overall pattern.

LETTERS

Letter to the Editor

A grateful thank you to the Waitsburg Times for your excellent coverage of the Port of Columbia Commission Meeting on January 8, where the Columbia Port Commissioners discussed selling the owned Rail Line.

Seth Bryan has an obvious agenda when considering this sale: to continue to oppose the Touchet Valley Trail construction despite the Trail construction support of most of the Valley Stakeholders. Bryan's opposition to the trail has juxtaposed him against economic development, farmers, and shippers.

The port's ownership of the rail line offers protection for business and agriculture community use- a port functions to benefit their electorate's economic development. A port does not make decisions for its economic benefit but rather for the economic well-being of the businesses, shippers, farmers, and consumers in the district they serve. A private business functions for the profit and benefit of its owners and shareholders. It has no obligation to protect, invest, or ensure a transportation asset will be available for other businesses in the community to deliver products, benefit tourism, or aid agriculture production. It could liquidate or sell parts for salvage for short-term gain without considering any long-term negative impact. Government entities, such as the Port of Columbia, must strive to provide sustainability and positive environmental impact for the communities they serve. As a port property, the rail line will provide both for the community as it navigates through potential dam removal, highway maintenance, and increased traffic. Just considering a sale of the railway shows an anti-business, anti-tourism, anti-agriculture, and anti-shipping bias by Mr. Bryan and some of his supporters. That consideration is very shortsighted.

"We are confident that the future of YWCA Walla Walla is bright," Kettner added. "We remain committed to providing crucial services to our communities in Walla Walla and Dayton."

The Times Whoo-hoo Snowshoe

By Vicki Sternfeld-Rossi | THE TIMES

Recently, friends invited me to join them at a snowshoe event hosted by the Blue Mountain Land Trust at the Horseshoe Prairie Nordic Ski Area near Tollgate, Oregon. I've never snowshoed before. The event organizers said they would provide snowshoes and snacks. They had me at snacks.

My friends are two of the most active and well-traveled people I know. This year marked their record of visiting all seven continents. I'm impressed and a little jealous. They always find adventure on their trips; although local, our snowshoeing was no different.

They picked me up promptly at 8 a.m. and made a quick coffee stop at Ten Ton Coffee. Fully caffeinated, we hit the road, ogled the remarkable scenery, and made great time. We were the first to arrive, proudly checked in, and were handed the first three pairs of snowshoes on the rack. Andrew, always the gentleman, helped secure them onto our boots. Unfortunately, his good deed was punished by a broken strap on his.

While Andrew hustled to the check-in point for a replacement pair, Zee and I hustled to the ice fort for hot drinks and snacks. We were happy to see the available snacks, which included a variety of hot soups, chili, cookies, donuts, coffee, and hot chocolate. Unfortunately, Andrew learned there were no more snowshoes available. He told Zee and me to go ahead and that he would enjoy some hot soup while he waited for us.

Luckily, a handy Blues Crew member repaired Andrew's broken snowshoes. He called and let us know he would meet us on the trail. We gave him what we thought were clear instructions, precisely where to turn from the main road to get to the trail. He missed the turn. We waited, then hiked back towards the road, looking for cell service. We waited there before walking back to the trail, where we waited some more. A chivalrous Blues Crew volunteer found us and stayed, concerned we could be lost forever in the forest waiting for Andrew.

After finally reaching Andrew by cell phone, we tried to determine where he was, where we were, and where we should meet – it became its own event. With our cell service cutting in and out, trying to read the map, we were warned by the Blue Crew volunteer about the dangers of being eaten alive by wild animals or dying of hypothermia. We were exhausted, worried, and hungry for those snacks.

Eventually, we regrouped, safe and sound. It turned out we'd never been more than ten minutes away from each other, and that was accounting for our relatively slow pace of traipsing through snow. Safely back together, we realized the worrying and stress gave us an appetite.

Besides the soup, chili and other treats, the crew set up a fire pit, and we toasted marshmallows. I don't mean to sound unappreciative, but I did offer to bring chocolate bars and graham crackers the next time, so we could enjoy the full smores experience.

After my recent return to downhill skiing, I may be inclined to stick with the snowshoe trekking. I didn't fall, I could walk fast, and although the shoes look a little dorky, it's fun. Also, everyone else looks dorky as well. On the slopes, I am easily intimidated by those who beautifully and effortlessly shush downhill, while I mutter to myself, "French fries, Pizza, and don't go down the hill on your butt." There are no snacks that can compensate for that level of embarrassment.

BATTLE IN THE BLUE WRESTLING INVITATIONAL

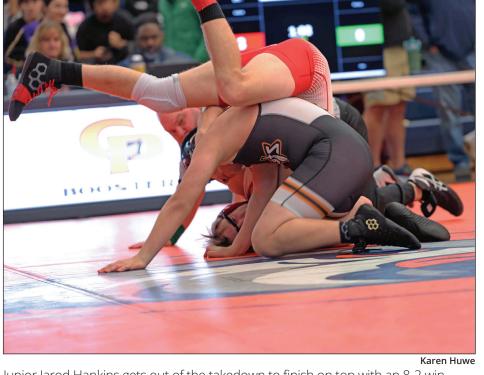

WAITSBURG — Waitsburg High School's wrestling team participated in the Battle in the Blues Invitational competitions at College Place High School on Saturday, January 18.

Competing in the 175-pound weight class, Cardinal Jarod Hankins made it to the championship semifinals with back-to-back wins. He ended the day 2-2. Graycen Teal wrestled in the 175-pound class and went 1-2.

Senior Will Ahler, a first-year wrestler, finished the day 0-2 in the 150-pound weight class, and freshman Dylan Guitierrez went 0-2 in the 126-pound class. Cardinal Karissa Potts, wrestling for her first year also went 0-2.

The Cardinals wrestled against athletes from Cle Elum, College Place, Dayton (Hunter Griffen), Echo, Heppner, Highland, Irrigon, Pendleton, Elgin, Mabton, Mac-Hi, Riverview, Umatilla, WA-HI, and White Swan.

"Overall, we got much better," said Coach Lash LaRue. "The results were not what we were looking for, but the improvement from Burbank to this tournament was very noticeable. Each kid gave us good matches and made it easy for us to build a plan to help them keep improving. I want to thank Joe Adams and Ray Compton for coming and volunteering their time to help this program."

CARDINALS GET WIN AGAINST TIMBERWOLVES

By Karen Huwe | THE TIMES

WAITSBURG — The Waitsburg High School boys' basketball coach, Westin Wallace, said the game against the Tekoa-Rosalia Timberwolves on Saturday, January 18, was the boys' best complete game of the year. Winning 52 to 50, he said the boys did not panic and played solidly on both offense and defense.

"Everyone stepped up in different ways," said Wallace.

JJ Gleason had four steals, hit two big free throws, and ended the game with nine points. Jackson Karl made two 3-point shots and many offensive rebounds. Blake Benavides had a career-high 19 points, and Logan Seal added 16 points and showed leadership skills at his point guard position. Teegan Kenney did a good job rebounding.

"The kids who did not play much supported their teammates, and the At Oakesdale, the Cardinals lost 80-31 on Friday, January 17.

"We played ourselves out of the game early, and Oakesdale is a good enough team to take advantage of that," said Wallace.

Seal led the team with 12 points.

Waitsburg High School's boys' junior varsity team lost to Oakesdale and Tekoa-Rosalia.

"The JV boys led Tekoa-Rosalia most of the game but lost momentum in the fourth quarter," said Wallace. "We are young, and we have a lot to learn, but the future is bright at Waitsburg."

The Cardinals play on their home court on Friday, January 24, and Saturday, January 25. Coach Wallace would love to have the town come out to support the teams.

At the gym there will be a booth selling custom Waitsburg Cardinal socks as a fundraiser to purchase a shooting machine. The socks will sell for $17 a pair or $30 for two pairs. Donations will also be accepted.

Come support the Cardinals and check out the sock booth. The teams appreciate the community's support!

IMPROVING

By Karen Huwe | THE TIMES

WAITSBURG — The Lady Cardinals' high school basketball team suffered two losses last week.

The team lost at Oakesdale on Friday, January 17, 81-14, and on Saturday, January 18, at Tekoa-Rosalia, scoring 63-26.

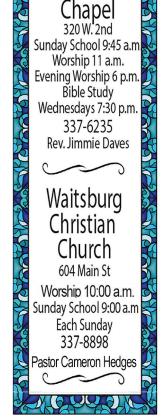

Senior point guard Alyssa Hollingsworth led her team in scoring in both games.

"The girls have improved a lot over this season," said Coach Kira Waggoner. Tekoa-Rosalia and Oakesdale are two teams that we have played already. Against Tekoa-Rosalia we were missing four girls, and the team still managed to have one of their best games. The girls scored more points this time around and looked like they were a team playing together, making good passes, and there were some great looks and attempts, but the ball just did not make it in the basket."

The girls will play St.John-Enidcott in Waitsburg on Friday, January 24; game time is at 6 p.m.

"We are excited for this game as we beat them last time, and the girls have worked hard, so we are hoping for a home victory," Waggoner said.

On Saturday, January 25, the Lady Cardinals will play Dayton with a game time of 4 p.m.

The alternate basketball team known as the "Five Horseman" had to take the floor against Prescott last Friday night. The Horseman gathered a lead in the third quarter but a couple long ones by Porter left the score knotted at the end of the period. In the overtime session "Wildhorse" Sam Wills proved that he does not live in the gym for nothing and Waitsburg won 16 to 20.

MY RECIPES

Luke Chavez

Sloppy Joes

ometimes, while researching recipes, I am overcome by unexpected cravings. This week, I was reminded of the flavorful and messy childhood lunchroom classic, the sloppy joe sandwich. Always up for a challenge, I set out looking for an alternative to the overly sweet version that comes out of a can. Here, ground beef is simmered in a tangy homemade sauce that comes to life with a zesty combination of spices.

Ingredients:

- 1 tablespoon olive oil
- 1 pound ground beef (80/20)
- <sup>1</sup>/<sub>2</sub> yellow onion, chopped 1 jalapeño, seeded and chopped
- 2 garlic cloves, minced
- Salt and fresh ground black pepper
- 1 tablespoon chili powder
- 1 tablespoon paprika
- 2 teaspoons dried oregano
- 1 teaspoon onion powder
- 1/4 teaspoon crushed red pepper flakes, or to taste
- 1 tablespoon tomato paste
- 1 tablespoon apple cider vinegar
- 1 cup chicken stock
- 1 cup tomato puree
- <sup>1</sup>/<sub>4</sub> cup ketchup
- 1 tablespoon plus 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1 teaspoon Dijon mustard
- 1 teaspoon molasses

For serving:

4 buns or rolls, buttered and toasted Red cabbage, finely shaved Pickles

Directions:

In a large skillet, heat the oil over high heat. Cook the beef, breaking it up with a wooden spoon, until evenly browned but not cooked all the way through, about 6 to 8 minutes. Transfer beef to a bowl with a slotted spoon, leaving drippings in the pan.

Reduce the heat to medium and sauté the onion, jalapeno, and garlic, stirring frequently, until soft but not browned, another 6 to 8 minutes. Season to taste with salt and black pepper. Next, stir in the chili powder, paprika, oregano, onion powder, and pepper flakes, cooking until very fragrant, about 1 minute. Add the tomato paste, stirring for a few minutes until it incorporates with onion mixture and lightly darkens in color. Then add the cider vinegar, stock, tomato puree, ketchup, Worcestershire, Dijon, and the molasses, scraping up any browned bits from the bottom of pan.

Return the beef to the pan, along with any accumulated juices, and bring to a simmer. Continue to cook at steady simmer, stirring and scraping the bottom, until mixture is thick and saucy, about 15 minutes. Taste and adjust seasoning, adding more salt and pepper as needed.

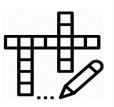

To serve, spoon beef mixture onto buttered rolls and top with shaved cabbage. Serve with chips or French fries, and a pickle spear on the side.

Place a number in the empty boxes in such a way that each row across, each column down and each small 9-box square contains all of the numbers from one to nine.

Notes:

This easy and fun weeknight dinner can be made lighter by using ground turkey or chicken. You could also try making it vegetarian by using ground seitan or crumbled firm tofu. If using tofu, be sure to thoroughly drain and press out extra moisture before cooking.

For a slightly less spicy version, you could use 1/2 a green bell pepper in place of the jalapeño.

Have lots of napkins on hand if you attempt to eat this sandwich with your hands. Or, for the more refined, eat open faced with a fork and knife. Either way, this makes a satisfying meal. I served it this week with homemade sweet potato oven fries, and crisp dill pickle spears. Enjoy!
