Boograss Concert a Big Success

By Brianna Wray | THE TIMES

WAITSBURG—The Plaza theater was haunted by all sorts of spirits Sunday during the annual Boograss concert held by the Touchet Valley Acoustic Music Project (TVAMP).

About 80 people attended the concert to see performances from local musical groups and bid on donated items in a silent auction. The lineup began with the youngest musicians: the TVAMP kids fronted by Noah Moser who sang classic "I'll fly away."

Noah said he was not nervous to play in front of so many people. "I've been doing it all my life," he pointed out.

The musical lineup continued with the Whippersnappers, Two Steps Back, Paul Gregutt, Jasper Mountain, and was headlined by Switchgrass Delta.

"They were on last night, really tight," said Lane Gwinn who sat in the front row.

Event organizer Kate Hockersmith said, "It went really, really well. We made close to $2,000, and it was a super success. I couldn't believe the community support. It was really nice. The attendance was good, and the auction went well."

The Boograss Concert's goal was fundraising to send Switchgrass

Ski Bluewood Readies for the Season

SKI AREA SOUTH OF DAYTON PREPARES FOR NEW SEASON WITH JOB FAIR, FACILITIES IMPROVEMENTS

By Michele Smith | THE TIMES

DAYTON—Kim Clark, General Manager of Ski Bluewood wants to get the word out about $400,000 worth of facility improvements that are sure to make this year's skiing even more "up-lifting."

"We have just completed the first lift improvement since 1986," he said.

Clark said the old platter-pull has been removed and replaced with two conveyor-type lifts, one of which is the 120 ft. Easy Rider, with two separate teaching pods.

The other is a completely covered, 400 ft. long, teaching area.

The idea is to practice turns and stops on the 120 ft. lift before moving on to the 400 ft. lift, to further your skills, said Clark.

There is also a new 30 ft. mountain-top yurt off the top of the Skyline chair, with a fireplace and propane stovetop for daytime use, he said.

The $40,000 warming hut will feature "light grab-and-go" foods and beverages such as soup, chili, hot chocolate and coffee.

"We are also applying for a beer and wine license for up there," said Clark.

Clark said two years ago guests were surveyed as to what they would like to see at the ski resort. Consequently, the rental shop has been expanded with all new equipment, and the carpet has been replaced inside the lodge.

"Every one of these projects is a direct result of that survey," said Clark.

In total, the owners have spent over $540,000 in capital improvements over two years, Clark said.

Improvements are also underway to mitigate environmental impacts with regard to noise, water consumption, and soil erosion. The goal is to build the infrastructure out, so that more year-round activities can take place.

Clark said there are 160 paid employees during the four-month season, making the resort the county's second-largest employer during that time.

Retaining staff has been problematic, said Clark. There are only six employees during the summer months. But having year-round capability will help balance the equation, he said.

"We are looking to hire in every department: food and beverage, janitorial, maintenance, snow sports, ski patrol, instructors, ticket sales and retail cashiers," Clark said.

Clark said Bluewood's annual Fall Job Fair will take place on Saturday, from 4 to 6 p.m. at the Columbia County Fairgrounds.

Charles Eaton is Columbia County's New Public Works Director

By Michele Smith | THE TIMES

DAYTON—Charles Eaton and his wife, Nancy, are looking into housing availability before they leave their home in the Portland area and he begins work as Columbia County's new public works director on Dec. 3.

Friday will be Eaton's last day as the Engineering Director for the City of Milwaukee, Ore, he said.

The Eatons both agree that living in a small community is preferable to the Portland "rat race."

"This looked like the perfect job for me," said Charles Eaton. "I worked in Amity, Ore. for a little while. The population was 1,700, and I really enjoyed it."

Nancy Eaton said it is a 25-mile commute from their home south of Portland to her job as a Senior CAD Technician with Comtech, in north Portland.

She will probably commute to Walla Walla, if she finds work in her field, and that will be fine with her, she said.

Charles Eaton said he grew up in the Portland area, and graduated from Benson High School before studying civil engineering and public works administration at the Oregon Institute of Technology in Klamath Falls.

"My specialty is building roads and bridges," said Eaton, whose first job was on a crew building bridges on I-205.

The Eatons both attended the Oregon Institute of Technology, and got married while working for the ODOT, in La Grande.

The Eatons have two sons. James is a senior at Montana State University, studying computer engineering. Will is a freshman at Eastern Washington University, studying mechanical engineering.

SUPPORT URGED FOR CHUCK AMEREIN

Dear Editor,
I am urging you to support Chuck Amerein for Columbia county commissioner. He will be a fresh new face in our county government. While experience is helpful, change is good too.

I think we need Chuck. He has many qualities that will make for a good commissioner.

Leadership – he commanded soldiers
Decision Making – His decisions were life and death decisions

Business – He has owned and operated 2 fitness businesses which involves people skills, perseverance and a work ethic.

Currently he is a journeyman carpenter as well as an independent contractor.

All of these need financial skills. You don't stay in business if you can't manage a budget.

You don't stay in business if you don't have a work ethic.

Deciding he needed to know what commissioners did, he attended commissioner meetings to acquaint himself with the duties of commissioners and to understand the current issues of the county.

As Commander of the American Legion Post # 42 you have probably seen him at many community functions. He cares about our county and our community.

Military training gives you all kinds of skills.

Leadership – you are in charge of others, their well-being and their safety. I would like him to make our county better.

Decision Making – he has had a lot of experience in this area: weighing options, looking at data, circumstances, and risks, all of these skills will help him make good decisions for us.

I think Chuck will be willing to hear from those who have concerns.

Leadership, decision making, financial skills, business owner, all of these make Chuck Amerein the perfect man for commissioner.

CRIDER IS BEST QUALIFIED FOR SHERIFF

Dear Editor,

This current race for Sheriff has been contentious. Not necessarily between the two candidates, but amongst their supporters. Some of the more troubling attacks I've seen revolve around the support the deputies have shown for Mark Crider. In one previously published UB letter to the editor, a former sheriff's deputy wrote about the unprofessionalism of the deputies for voicing their opinion on whom the next Sheriff should be. He stated there was "a great deal of quiet support" for Matt Stroe amongst the "professional" deputies. Eighteen deputies voted to support Mark in their Associations endorsement. The number of total deputies at the Sheriff's Office is 24, so 18 of 24 are supporting Mr. Crider (are more quietly supporting him?). Sounds like a large majority are supporting Mr. Crider. When I did some additional research, I saw that 100% of the support staff at the Sheriff's Office is supporting Mark Crider. Are all of these people unprofessional for voicing their opinion while off duty?

In another previously published UB letter to the editor, the author compared the deputies supporting Mark Crider, who wear blue campaign shirts to events, to the brown shirt thugs utilized by the Nazi Party during their rise to power in Germany. Now think about this; deputies supporting Crider at public events are akin to Nazis. So in terms of slander, the deputies supporting Crider for Sheriff are unprofessional at the very least; at worst, they're Nazis.

Just like during the primary, the current deputies of the WWSO have come under fire for supporting a candidate they feel is the best fit for Sheriff. As others have pointed out, it is the deputies who have the most to gain or lose as a result of this election. In Matt Stroe they would have a Sheriff who is a nice guy and is "from here." but has very limited law enforcement experience. In Mark Crider they would maintain a leader who is the current Undersheriff, has a working and intimate knowledge of the budget, has an impressive law enforcement career and a proven track record of service to this nation.

Professionals recognize one another. The deputies have recognized Mark as the professional they want. I support our deputies and will be voting Mark Crider for Sheriff.

THANK YOU, MATTHEW STROE

Dear Editor,
As the election is winding down, I would like to personally thank Matt. Being Matt's pastor, I have had the honor to sit front row to this process from beginning to end with the family. I will always remember the conversation that we had when he felt the call to run for Sheriff. I asked him one simple question: Why? He responded: I feel called to serve. Although he was confident that God was leading him in this direction, he had his concerns. He knew the attacks would come against his character, against his family, against his faith. I was there when he was more concerned about what this would do to his boys than himself. I've witnessed him blossom as a father and a husband, no matter how ugly it became. The attacks did come. They came from some of the most unlikely of sources, but Matt held strong. He would consistently remind his supporters and family not to get in the mud with them. Matt has refused to fight back because it's not in his heart to any differently. He has chosen to forgive when it would seem impossible. I was with him on many occasions as we had to take a breath and just remind ourselves that we had to do this God's way. He was there for me when the personal attacks came down on me because of my support. Matt would say to me "this says more about them than it does about you. God has this." In August, we had a conversation about his concern on what the attacks were doing to his boys, and what they would think of him as a father. Not even 15 minutes later, his oldest boy came outside and said "Love you, Dad. You are doing this the right way even though it is hard." This is a direct reflection on who Matt is. He has stayed faithful to one amazing wife and two incredible boys. He has remained strong when others would have quit. Commitment matters to Matt. I do have to apologize, though. I lied to you, Matt. I said at the beginning that no matter what the result was, I wouldn't think any differently. I do think differently of you. No matter what your title will be after November 6th, your title for me will forever be: Hero. Thank you, Matt.

Michael Crothers

OCT. 3, 1944 – OCT. 13, 2018

Mike was a constant explorer of news, politics and history. So it was only fitting he passed while on an "exploration" cruise ship while sailing the New England coast line from Halifax to New York City. Officially, James Michael Crothers, died October 13, 2018 in Salem, Massachusetts of cardiopulmonary arrest.

Mike was born in Bend, Oregon on October 3, 1944. He and his family moved to Dayton when he was in the 2nd grade. He was with the Dayton High School graduating class of 1962, when he enlisted in the U.S. Marine Corps. "Once a Marine, always a Marine" was his motto.

While attending college he and his wife Bonnie (Pardue) began a career in motel management, which gave Mike the opportunity to excel in the property management field of business to become a partner in Northwest Equity Investments. His responsibility in his company was the overseeing of many R.V. parks, hotels, motels and apartment complexes across the U.S.

His second career was what he enjoyed the most, moving back to Dayton to partner with his brother, Gene, in the purchase of the Sports Center. He cherished the time spent with Gene doing the remodel to create Cracker B's Pub and Grill.

Mike's third career before his much enjoyed retirement was working with his childhood friend, Steve McMunn, in the floor covering business.

Mike ran on the original Olympic track in Greece, strolled along the Mediterranean in the Costa del Sol, rode a camel in Morocco, explored the islands of Rarotonga and Aitutaki in the Cook Islands and roamed the beaches and enjoyed the relaxed culture of the Hawaiian Island many times.

Mike's wit, curiosity of life and his devotion to his family will be greatly missed by his mother, Rosemary Leedy Crothers Newman and his wife, Bonnie, both of Dayton. His daughter Megan (Jim) Hahn, granddaughter Autumn Skye Hahn. His daughter from a previous marriage, Lori (Rob) Bendix and their children Liam and Keira. Mike has requested no services. If you would like to remember him in some way please think of the Blue Mountain Humane Society or the Dayton Dog Park.

Valley Girls Barrel Racing Assoc. Ends Season

By Brianna Wray | THE TIMES

WALLA WALLA—The Valley Girls Barrel Racing Association has completed their 56th season of barrel racing in the Walla Walla Valley with the Autumn Daze Race at the Walla Walla County Fairgrounds.

Touchet Valley racers took first place in Overall, Open, Junior, Honors and Novice categories. Dayton racer Shayla Currin was first in the Senior division and Milton-Freewater racer Tamra Morris was first in the Amateur division.

The annual awards dinner will be Nov 12 at Frenchtown Hall. Champions will receive custom-made Corriente Saddles, and remaining contestants in the top standings receive a variety of equine products.

The 2018 season has concluded, but the 2019 season is already underway, says Dayton racer Rosie Gallaher. "Saturday morning is the finals for that year, then the afternoon begins the next year. There's no breaks—well, maybe three hours—between seasons."

Different qualifying races are spaced throughout the region, so barrel racing also implies a fair amount of travel. "Barrel racers are pretty dedicated and pretty tough people," said Gallaher, "We've had one member, Carla Lane, qualify for the American, a one-day rodeo in Fort Worth, Tex. She qualified through a barrel race held in Bozeman, Mont."

Valley Girls has two youth contestants who qualified for the Junior National Finals Rodeo in Las Vegas in December. Saige Smith and Paige Gartner, both from Touchet, will make the long trip to compete.

"We have some very tough competitors," says Gallaher, "Valley Girls itself has been going since 1962. Some of the founding members are still competing members, as well as holding board of director meetings."

Valley Girls encourages barrel racers of every age, size, and skill level. With 73 members across six divisions, the Valley Girls offer something for every level of barrel racer. "We do accept boys and men in our organization," says Gallaher. For more information visit vgbra.org or call Sue Ruzicka (509) 522-1137.

* On Nov. 12, 1799, Andrew Ellcott Douglass, an early American astronomer, witnesses the Leonids meteor shower from a ship off the Florida Keys. Douglass wrote in his journal that he "was in constant expectation of some of them falling on the vessel." It is the first known record of a meteor shower in North America.

* On Nov. 16, 1901, on New York's Coney Island, a low-slung car called the "Torpedo Racer" breaks the world speed record for electric cars. Its builder and pilot, Andrew Riker, managed a speed of 57 mph.

* On Nov. 18, 1966, Sandy Koufax, 30, the ace pitcher for the Los Angeles Dodgers, retires from baseball due to chronic arthritis in his pitching arm. "In those days there was no surgery," he said much later. In 1971, Koufax became the youngest person ever elected to the Baseball Hall of Fame.

* On Nov. 13, 1974, Karen Silkwood is killed in a car accident in Oklahoma. She had complained to the Atomic Energy Commission about unsafe conditions at the Kerr-McGee plutonium plant where she worked and was on her way to meet with a union representative and a reporter. The folder of information she had with her was never found.

* On Nov. 15, 1984, "Baby Fae," a month-old infant who had received a baboon-heart transplant 20 days earlier, dies in California. Three other humans had received animal-heart transplants, but none survived longer than 3 1/2 days.

CCHS to Lease Port Office for Training Facility

By Michele Smith | THE TIMES

DAYTON—The Columbia County Health System is close to signing a lease for the Port-owned building formerly occupied by Columbia County District Court, according to CEO Shane McGuire. During last week's hospital district board meeting, McGuire said that the space will be used for the Certified Nursing Assistant program, as well as for an offsite education facility.

McGuire told the hospital district commissioners that the first round of payments have been received from Washington Rural Health Access Preservation for CCHS's focus on integrated behavioral health in the clinics, and depression screening of Medicaid patients.

"If we continue to meet benchmarks we will have a final round in 2018, bringing the 2018 total to $93,960," he said.

McGuire said that if benchmarks continue to be met, additional funding will be received from WRHAP next year.

A new director has been hired for the clinics, said McGuire. Judy Miller started work on Oct. 22, and she has been shadowing an interim director from the consulting team V2V.

For the past year V2V has been assessing a variety of issues at the clinics, and has determined the need for strong leadership, said McGuire.

"We're going to take those goals and start working on them," he said about the assessment.

McGuire attended a Lion's Club meeting in Waitsburg with Dr. Neace to discuss Emergency Department services at the hospital, and other outreach initiatives.

He also reported that the drive-through flu clinics were a success.

Ninety-five people passed through the Dayton drive-through flu shot program earlier this month, which is roughly three times the number in past years, he said.

"We are very thankful for our volunteer nurses that worked the clinic, some after having worked a 12-hour shift," said McGuire.

McGuire said the budget was exceeded in September. There should be $1.2 million in deposits for October, up from $924,000 deposited in September, he said in his report.

"We are recognizing a trend of improved deposits as our team continues to increase momentum," he said.

Bringing billing in house will be a bonus for collecting older Accounts Receivable, which he said are collectible, and which will be carried forward into the 2019 budget.

"We're going to be working really hard on older billing," McGuire said.

"We are seeing trends and statistics ticking the way we want," he said.

In his financial report for September, Controller Tom Meyers said money owed to Noridian Medicare at the end of 2018, has been duly recorded.

The Board of Commissioners adopted a resolution moving November's meeting from the 22nd to the 29th because of the Thanksgiving holiday.

In addition, a public hearing is scheduled for November 14, in the Administration Building boardroom, for the purpose of adopting the 2019 budget.

Dia de los Muertos in Walla Walla

FOURTH-ANNUAL EVENT FEATURED PRINT MAKING USING A SMALL STEAMROLLER

By Brianna Wray | THE TIMES

WALLA WALLA—Waitsburg artist Bill Rodgers volunteered at the fourth-annual Dia de los Muertos or Day of the Dead. The two-day event, held on Walla Walla's Main street Saturday and Sunday, included a live DJ, a Shakespearean-themed "Pageant of the Dead" performed by local student groups, vendor booths, face-painting, food trucks and a steamroller printmaking event.

For only five dollars, a person 12 or older could carve their own plate and have their design printed. Fabric prints are made by inking relief carved print blocks, laying them upon fabric in sheets or t-shirts, and then driving a small road roller (a.k.a. "steamroller") over them to press the ink into the fabric.

Larger-scale prints were fall relief carving projects created by students of Nicole Pietrantonio at Whitman College.

"I dearly love this annual event," said Rodgers, "which is why I have volunteered for the past four years to get my hands turned black while inking the print blocks that participants carve." It doesn't take long for the ink to get everywhere.

Rodgers is the founder of The Waitsburg School of Landscape Photography, through which he and the organization's affiliates offer photographic workshops in the southern Palouse. Though outside of his typical photography media Rodgers is a huge help to budding artists as their visions materialize.

"The turnout this year was amazing - I am guessing double or better than the previous years - at least a gazillion," said Rodgers. The event was sponsored in part by Shakespeare Walla Walla, Whitman College, and ArtWalla, Walla Walla's local consortium of talented and accomplished artists.

Character Strong activities led are designed to help students develop a stronger self-identity, guide them safely through personal challenges and help them to feel a sense of community in their school.

Middle and high school ASB officers and call representatives attended a Leadership Conference in Pomeroy in September. As ASB advisors, Mrs. Groom and Mr. Leahy supervised the students. Students reported that the conference was enjoyable and they were able to meet students from other schools and share ideas.

Both the middle and high school will be conducting the Healthy Youth Survey again this year.

CAROLYN HENDERSON: TALK ABOUT ART

The Fractal Photography of Debbie Lind

Some people have very few nice things to say about broccoli. Culinary preferences aside, it's worth looking at broccoli closely to marvel at its makeup: each head consists of many little heads – florets – repeated over and over

In the world of mathematics as well as art, this is called fractalization: the repetition of the same shape, in various sizes and formats, to create a cohesive whole.

“Both cauliflower and broccoli are one big shape, and when taken apart, they are still the same shape, but different sizes,” says photographer Debbie Lind, who first discovered fractal art when reading about shapes to a group of kindergarteners visiting the library where she is director in Wallowa, OR.

“When I first read about this, I thought – ‘How can I use this in my photography?’

“So I just started with a red tulip I photographed, and by using Photoshop, I started to fractalize it. When I was done fractaling the tulip, it looked like a butterfly wing – from there, I made three more wings, and my first fractal art was born.”

The resultant artwork, Butterfly Blooms, went on to win first prize at a major regional art show, and Lind had discovered a new aspect to her photographic art.

“Each piece of artwork I do gives a different perspective on the subject,” Lind says.

“I use my photographs to not only look beautiful on their own, but I then take that beautiful photograph and turn it into a different piece of art.”

Lind is showing her fractal photographic art at a month-long Art Event in Wenaha Gallery (219 East Main, Dayton) through Nov. 17. The gallery is open Monday through Saturday from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

TEENY MCMUNN: MY RECIPE BOX

Braided Egg Bread with Cream Cheese & Chocolate Filling

This recipe is shared from Savannah Henderson, who, most of you know, works at Wenaha Gallery in Dayton. But most may not know what a gourmet baker she is. She posted this picture on Facebook, so I contacted her. I haven't made it yet but it's on my list.

A thought—if you don't make bread, then maybe share with someone who does and hopefully they will share back.

A quick note: if you know someone who is struggling for any reason, but don't know how to reach out or what to say, take them food, whether it be a dinner dish, a dessert, homemade or bought, it is the perfect way to start a conversation and see where it goes from there.

- INGREDIENTS:
- 3 ½ c. all-purpose flour
  - 1 Tbsp granulated sugar
  - 1 pkg active dry yeast
  - ¾ tsp salt
  - 3 Tbsp light olive oil
  - 2 large eggs

- FILLING:
- 8 oz cream cheese, softened
  - 6 oz semi-sweet chocolate, divided

INSTRUCTIONS:

In a large bowl, combine 2 ½ cups flour, sugar, yeast, and salt. In a small sauce pan, heat water and oil to 120-130 degrees. Add to dry ingredients along with eggs. Beat on medium speed for three minutes. Stir in enough remaining flour to form a soft dough.

Turn onto a lightly floured surface: knead until smooth and elastic, about six to eight minutes. Place in a greased bowl, turning once to grease top. Cover and let rise in a warm place until doubled, about one-and-a-half hours.

While the dough is rising, make the filling. Start by melting 4 oz of the semi-sweet chocolate on low heat. Mix the softened cream cheese with an electric mixer until fluffy, add the melted chocolate, beat until combined, set aside. Chop remaining chocolate and set aside.

Punch dough down. Turn onto a lightly floured surface. Divide dough into three equal parts. Roll out each piece of dough with a rolling pin until it measures roughly three inches by 14 inches. With an offset spatula spread an even layer of cream cheese mixture onto each piece of dough; sprinkle chopped chocolate on top. Once all three pieces of dough have been filled, roll them up to form a long piece of dough, pinch the seams, braid the three pieces together, pinching the ends and tucking them under to seal (you can bake it like this or you can form the braid into an O shape).

Place dough onto a lined baking sheet, cover and let rise for 45 minutes.

Whisk together one egg with a teaspoon of water to make an egg wash. Brush an even layer of the mixture on top of the dough.

Bake in a 385 degree oven until deep golden brown, about 30 minutes. Let cool.

MY NOTES:

Well, I think I can do that. I've always been intimidated by braided breads. I have another church breakfast potluck coming up, so this will be perfect, and they are great tasters for new recipes.)

SAVONNAH'S NOTES: I asked her about adding sugar to the cream cheese mixture. She mentioned for her it was sweet enough, (for me, I'll add sugar) and it is best warmed up as it helps the cream cheese stay soft. Also, chocolate chips may be used instead of baking squares.

ENJOY! By the way- I had quite a few tell me they made the Apple Puff Pancake. If you have lost yours, please email me and I will send it to you. Or it can easily be found online.

Look into the facts behind I-1631

Initiative 1631's new $2.3 billion energy tax would increase every year with no cap

$2.3 Billion Energy Tax, Increases Every Year

I-1631's new energy tax would cost Washington families and consumers more than $2.3 billion in the first five years alone. And I-1631's escalating taxes would automatically increase every year – with no cap.

Source: Fiscal Impact Summary of I-1631, Washington State Office of Fiscal Management, Rev. 8/24/2018

Consumers Pay Higher Gas Prices

Washington already has the third highest gasoline prices in the nation, and I-1631 would drive these prices even higher. An independent study shows that I-1631 would increase gasoline prices by 13 cents per gallon in the first year, with automatic increases every year, indefinitely. These increases would quadruple to 59 cents more per gallon within 15 years.

Source: Initiative I-1631, Sec. 8 (3); NERA Economic Consulting, Analysis of Economic and CO2 Emissions Impacts of Washington Initiative 1631, October 2018; AAA, State Gasoline Price Averages

Unelected Board, No Accountability

There would be no meaningful oversight of the unelected board of political appointees in charge of spending the billions in revenues collected under I-1631. There is no specific spending plan and no requirement to spend funds specifically on reducing greenhouse gases.

Sources: Initiative 1631, Sec. 4, 5, 6; Washington State OFM, Fiscal Impact Study of I-1631, August 24, 2018

Hurts Families and Small Businesses

Families and small businesses would face higher costs for gasoline, heating fuel, natural gas, electricity and other goods and services. I-1631 would cost the average Washington household $440 more per year in 2020, increasing every year indefinitely, reaching $990 by 2035. This would especially hurt those who can least afford it.

Sources: Initiative I-1631, Sec. 8 (3); NERA Economic Consulting, Analysis of Economic and CO2 Emissions Impacts of Washington Initiative 1631, October 2018

"I-1631 would cost the average household $440 more in 2020. Household costs would continue to increase every year, with no cap, especially hurting families and those on fixed incomes."

Vicki Malloy
Farmer/Orchardist, Malaga

"I-1631 would continue to increase prices for electricity, heating and gasoline every year, making it harder to compete with out-of-state companies."

Sabrina Jones
Small Business Owner, Spokane

"I-1631 would force Washington consumers to pay billions, and then would give an unelected board a blank check to spend those billions however it chooses, with no specific plan and no guarantee of less pollution."

Rob McKenna
Former Washington Attorney General

"Consumers would pay billions in higher prices for gasoline, electricity, heating fuel and natural gas. But there's no guarantee it would help our environment."
