Pioneer Fall Festival Coming to Waitsburg Sept. 16

MUSIC, HISTORICAL EXHIBITS AND A PIE CONTEST AWAIT VISITORS TO THIS ANNUAL EVENT

By Brianna Wray | THE TIMES

WAITSBURG—The 46th annual Pioneer Fall Festival is coming to Waitsburg Sept. 16. Hosted at the Bruce Mansion Museum Complex located at 314 Main St., this all-day event features an activity for every sensibility.

The festival begins at 11 a.m. with a non-denominational Cowboy Church service officiated by First Presbyterian Church of Waitsburg Pastor Brett Moser. This year's Pioneer of the Year, Mary Grant Thompkins, whose family farmed a large spread near Prescott, will be honored following the service at noon by Waitsburg Historical Society president Tom Land.

A Prescott history exhibit will run concurrently at the Wilson-Phillips House, featuring more information on the Thompkins family's contributions to the region.

Judging for the fourth annual Laurette McCaw Invitational Pie-oneer Fall Festival Pie Baking Contest begins at 11:30 a.m. Entrants to the contest are invited to bring two identical pies, one for judging and sale to the general public, and another for the auction to compete for best pie bragging rights.

Walla Walla County Health Dept rules require that all pies must be fruit or vegetable-based with no dairy or eggs in the filling. All elements of the pie must be homemade. Entry forms are available at Waitsburg Grocery and Ten Ton Coffee.

Waitsburg's Kate Hockersmith has arranged a lineup of local musicians who will take the Main Stage from noon to 4 p.m., beginning with the Bluegrass Kids. Between performances, the American Legion will announce raffle winners. Other artists featured will be Dr. Kyle Terry, Cowboy Poetry with Craig Horlacher, Brian Hunt, Jasper Mountain, and Switchgrass.

An historic fashion show will be held at 2:30 p.m.

Guests are invited to tour the museum complex grounds and see a variety of vendors as well as historical Pioneer Craft presentations. Visitors can learn to churn butter, cook with cast iron, sew a wheat sack and hand-dip candles. Children can enjoy old-fashioned games on the lawn at 1 p.m.

The Pioneer Fall Festival is free to all, but donations are accepted and appreciated.

Historical society members are working to create an endowment fund, from which returns would support the museums.

"The Bruce Mansion Complex is the jewel of the city, built from a beat-up old mansion into what it is now completely by volunteer labor and has been run by volunteers since," said Land. "It's a real point of pride."

Broughton Building Mural Gets Needed Restoration

FUNDING PROVIDED BY GRANTS TO DAYTON DEVELOPMENT TASK FORCE

By Ken Graham | THE TIMES

DAYTON—The mural on the west side of the Broughton Land Co. has received a much-needed restoration, which included repair to the wall and repainting to brighten the mural images.

Kennewick mural artist Don Brown is almost finished with the work. He was selected by the Dayton Development Task Force, which raised nearly $10,000 for the project. Much of the funding came from donors to the Task Force's B&O tax incentive program.

Brown repaired the stucco and bricks on the lower part of the wall in early August. He said he is using special mural paint for his restoration work on the images and will seal the entire wall with clear coat.

He stressed that, while both the paint and clear coat he uses provide strong UV ray protection, the images can still be expected to fade some over time.

Besides the images on the west wall, Brown is also restoring the small image on the front of the building above the front door.

The Broughton mural was originally painted by Robert Thomas in the early 1990s, assisted by several local Dayton artists. Funding for the original project was provided by an anonymous donor who worked with Broughton Land Co. to finance the project.

PIONEER PORTRAITS

Ten Years Ago-September 11, 2018

Why a person would undertake the training, discipline, and dedication to enter a race which will take over 16 hours to complete and involving a 2.4 mile swim, bicycling 112 miles, and running a full marathon of 26.2 miles, is a question Waitsburg High grad Tammy (Otterson) Wood and her husband, Scott, get asked regularly. Scott and Tammy have been doing triathlons about 10 years. Among triathletes, the ultimate is to do an ironman, she said. "It's a goal that takes a few years to arrive at."

Over 45,000 marijuana plants with an estimated street value of $65 million, found growing on private land in the western region of Walla Walla County, were discovered and pulled up on Sept 2 by the South Eastern Washington Narcotics Team (SENT). SENT comprised of Walla Walla, Columbia and Garfield County Sheriff's deputies were assisted in the eradication by the Walla Walla State patrol, Washington State National Guard, and the Spokane Regional Drug Task Force.

Twenty-Five Years Ago-September 2, 1993

New Waitsburg Elementary School principal Russell Knopp admits his humor can be off the wall. Like the time he carried a hammer and block of ice into the meeting with teachers. In an episode that would have made watermelon-smashing comedian Gallagher proud, Knopp stuck the ice with a hammer, proclaiming "This should break the ice"

If school was a hockey game, Mark Houk would be scoring a hat trick. No easy feat, a hat trick is the term used for a player scoring three goals in one game. As school opens next week, Sept 7, Houk will be a student, a teacher and a principal-at the same time- in the Waitsburg school district.

Columbia County commissioners have approved of members of a special committee which will endeavor to protect the historical integrity of the restored Columbia County Courthouse on main Street in Dayton. Members of the committee are: Bob Carlton, chairman, Rod Howley, Faye Rainwater, Bill Graham, Ginny Butler, Betty Ann Hetches, Jane Unke, Lynn Useman.

Pfc. David J. Dunn, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Dunn of Waitsburg, has received the Army Commendation Medal for heroism with the "V" device as the result of enemy action in Vietnam. The commendation reads, "private First Class Dunn distinguished himself by heroic actions on 19 June 1968, while serving with Co. C. 1st Battalion, 27th Infantry on a combat operation in the Republic of Vietnam. When his unit came under heavy enemy fire immediately after disembarking a helicopter, Private Dunn quickly moved to a position from which he fired heavy and accurate fire on the hostile positions.

CITY OF WAITSBURG

Waitsburg is Dealing with Wastewater Challenges

I want to first take the opportunity to assure City of Waitsburg residents that our current situation with the wastewater treatment plant is not something to panic about. Yes, the pressing system needs to be replaced, but no, we will not be dumping directly into the river; in fact, that would never be an option. Nor are you going to have to stop flushing your toilets anytime soon.

We have reached a point with our pressing system where we are looking at an emergency-type situation IF we do not get it replaced, but we are currently working on choosing the system we want, and after that system is approved by city council, we will be ordering it as soon as possible.

In the meantime, we have a portable press that will be here in about a month and will serve as a temporary means for wasting until our new system is installed. And in that month until the press arrives, if we reach capacity, which we do not anticipate, we do have options for removing waste, none of which include discharging directly into the river; again, that is absolutely NOT an option.

To shed some light on what the City of Waitsburg's water and sewer systems are comprised of, and what the overall maintenance needs of the systems truly are, a description of the water and sewer systems and how the city plans for future projects follows.

The city's main water source is a series of springs located about 10 miles outside the city limits along Coppei Creek in the Blue Mountains. This gravity-fed system has been in use for over 100 years and has gone through several improvements over the decades.

The last major work occurred in the early 1980s, which involved the replacement of approximately eight miles of cast iron pipe. The remaining approximately two miles of cast iron pipe that was installed in the 1930s is still in use today, along with the entire collection system at the spring source.

In addition to the springs, the city also has four deep basalt wells that are mainly only used to supplement the springs during the warm summer months or on an emergency basis.

Aside from the water sources, there are approximately 11 to 12 miles of piping around the city that distribute the water throughout the city. Sizable portions of the distribution system were replaced in the 1950s and 1980s and are comprised of varying materials, ages and qualities.

Every user of the system is required to have a water meter as a means to measure the amount of usage, which correlates to the monthly water bills.

The city's wastewater treatment plant was rebuilt in the late 1990s and came online in the early 2000s. This $3 million facility consists of a variety of systems that are necessary to comply with our state-issued discharge permit as a means to address sewage disposal.

As with water, there are miles of sewer mainlines spread out through the city that work on a gravity-feed drainage design. Unlike the water system, the vast majority of sewer mainlines around the city consist of terracotta clay installed in the 1930s and are far beyond their useful lives. Anyone who has ever had sewer backup due to root infiltration can attest to the ineffectiveness of this material over time. That is why the city has spent the last several years, when funding is available, relining many of the sewer mainlines.

CATHY MCMORRIS RODGERS IS WORKING FOR US

Dear Editor,

Congresswoman McMorris Rodgers has many noteworthy achievements. She has had 10 bills passed out of the U.S. House of Representatives, five of which have cleared the Senate and been signed into law by the President.

Did you know she fought for and passed the Faster Care for Veterans act, authored major new laws to help people with disabilities to become independent, helped pass legislation to protect our Columbia and Snake River dams, won expanded support for the Spokane Teaching Health Center and community clinics to bring more doctors to rural and underserved communities, and won funding for 10 additional air tankers for Fairchild Air Base—making it the largest tanker support base in the world?

She's been part of the administration that has brought dramatic increasing employment, lowering of unemployment for all folks, lowering of the number of people on welfare, lowering of health care costs, lowering of taxes and increases in take home pay, reducing the number of economic crippling federal regulations and stimulating new and old business development. She's working vigorously with administration officials to eliminate the international theft of our patents and inventions, and to re-establish fair trade.

There's much work yet to be done. Cathy knows how to do it—and is already working hard for us.

See cathyforcongress.com for a broader understanding of her accomplishments.

Are you better off today than you were two years ago?

Congresswoman Cathy McMorris Rodgers has earned our respect and support and clearly deserves to be re-elected.

Trade Wars Hit Cherry Growers Hard

By Don C. Brunell

Last April, Washington wheat, apple and cherry growers hoped U.S. and China trade negotiators would resolve differences and prevent imposition of damaging tariffs on our state's leading crops. Unfortunately, that did not happen, and the costs are adding up.

Thousands of Washington farmers now find themselves on the front lines of a battle between the two largest economies in the world.

Here's what has happened so far.

Earlier this year, President Donald Trump imposed a 25 percent tariff on $34 billion of Chinese imports to punish China for its alleged predatory tactics toward American technology companies. China is notorious for ripping off U.S. companies which develop high-tech products and then manufacturing cheap copies which dramatically undercut our products on worldwide markets.

China swiftly responded with tariffs on 128 American products, including fruit, pork and metal pipes, in retaliation for U.S. tariffs on Chinese steel and aluminum. While many aerospace workers in the Puget Sound area breathed a sigh of relief because Boeing aircraft were not included in China's retaliation, that wasn't the case for our state's farmers.

With the state's cherry harvest in, the financial damages from the trade dispute for cherries alone is estimated at $86 million. A bipartisan group from our state's congressional delegation is asking the federal government to offset losses from trade wars during the 2018 season.

President Trump set aside $12 billion in short-term federal relief to assist U.S. farmers and companies adversely impacted by the negotiations. Democratic U.S. Senators Maria Cantwell and Patty Murray and Republican Congressmen Dan Newhouse and Dave Reichert wrote to the Dept. of Agriculture requesting the aid.

Washington's agriculture community is caught in the cross-fire of the "tariff bumping" between the United States and China and the cherry crop is particularly vulnerable. China is the top export market for sweet cherries grown in the state.

Unfortunately, agriculture products, unlike steel and aluminum, are perishable. Sweet cherries have the shortest growing season of any tree fruit. Cherry picking typically starts at the beginning of May and ends by the middle of August. Sweet cherries must reach intended markets immediately. Unlike apples and wheat, cherries cannot be stored for shipping later in the year.

Mark Powers, president of the Northwest Horticultural Council, estimated that $130 million worth of Pacific Northwest cherries went to China last year. That is 11 percent of the total crop.

The 25 percent tariff increase that China has now levied on U.S. cherries was an unexpected twist for 1,400 growers in Washington. Those growers built their production around previously negotiated trade pacts.

Unfortunately, tariff bumping may not be over. Trump is considering $200 billion in new tariffs on Chinese products. It invites additional retaliation from China, which could impact other Washington businesses.

Hopefully, the trade dispute will be resolved before the apple and wheat harvest are completed this fall.

Trade negotiations are always sensitive, and the results never please everyone. It is a give and take process which traditionally crawls along at a snail's pace.

For example, when the U.S.-South Korea trade deal was signed in 2008, it had been negotiated over several years. In the end, new markets for Washington beef, cherries and wines were opened; however, opponents point out the deal also opened greater access to American markets for Korean autos.

While the President has justifiable concerns over current trade agreements and is pushing hard for a better deal, it would be wise to slow down and consider the collateral damage which is occurring.

Washington's cherries are the first to feel the adverse impact but may not be the last.

CAROLYN HENDERSON: TALK ABOUT

The Old and New West of Tobias Sauer

Things have changed a bit in the Old West over the last two centuries. While we don't ride horses as much as we did then, we still admire the life of the cowboy, the vast expanse of mountains and prairie, and the wildlife of the area.

This is the New West, a subject close to the heart and hands of oil painter Tobias Sauer. Sauer has spent a major portion of his life residing near the route taken by the Lewis and Clark Expedition.

"I paint scenes from the West because I love it," says the Coeur d'Alene artist, a transplant from Montana.

"I grew up in Charlie Russell country, and I grew up wanting to ranch. My heroes were cowboys. I loved rodeo, ranching, and outdoors, and since I couldn't live the life of a cowboy, I like to paint it."

Sauer's work is bold, expressive and filled with the movement and excitement of a Western day. And his scenes of cowboys and their livestock charges could take place last night or last century.

He has shown and sold his work in major western art shows throughout the nation, including the Cowboy Classics Western Art Show in Phoenix, Ariz.; the Western Heritage Art Show in Great Falls, Mont.; Heart of the West in both Coeur d'Alene and Bozeman, Mont.; and, fittingly, the Russell Exhibition and Sale in Great Falls, Mont.

Through Sept. 22, Sauer is exhibiting a selection of his western and wildlife paintings at Wenaha Gallery, 219 East Main, Dayton. The gallery is open 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., Monday through Saturday.

As a component of our annual budget adoption process, the city reviews and updates its capital facilities plan (available on the city's website) which includes water and wastewater systems, based on a list of deficiencies and planned priorities.

Maintenance of these two systems is predicated on user fees. Without user fees, we cannot effectively maintain either system. Over the last couple of years, utility rate increases were passed as a means to allow the city to create a path forward through the leveraging of these rates to borrow money in an effort to fix some of the most pressing issues associated with the water and sewer systems, leaving smaller repairs to the city public works crew to repair over future years.

As city staff, we grapple with infrastructure issues every day and how we prioritize repairs to the city's various systems. Due to limited funding year to year and exceedingly high project price tags, we have to plan infrastructure improvements out over several years.

When we chose to do the water meter replacement project before replacing the wastewater treatment plant's pressing system, we did not anticipate the accelerated rate at which the pressing system is now failing. We were hoping to capture lost water use through replacing the meters, which would generate more revenue to help fund some of the other infrastructure improvements in the coming years.

Now that we have to address the pressing system immediately, the city will re-evaluate its priorities and shift project timelines around to solve current problems while continuing to plan for future repairs to a century-old system that always seems to need something fixed.

In the end, we are doing all we can with the limited time, staffing and money the city has to devote to the water and sewer systems, which are just a few of the many items city staff has to take care of on a daily basis.

Anyone who has regularly attended city council meetings or served on city council would be able to attest to the amount of time spent discussing the infrastructure needs of the city and what needs to be done to repair our aging systems to ensure future generations aren't forced to pay for projects that should have been done decades prior when problems first arose.

Should any concerned citizen want to discuss system deficiencies or project selection further, they are more than welcome to contact me.

DW Falls to Columbia Burbank, 25-8

DW STAYS CLOSE FOR THREE QUARTERS IN RUSTY START TO NEW SEASON

By Ken Graham | THE TIMES

BURBANK—the Dayton-Waitsburg football team dropped its first game of the season Friday night on the road at Columbia-Burbank, 25-8.

The Coyotes scored touchdowns in the first and second quarters to take a 13-0 lead going into the half. But the DW defense stiffened up in the third quarter and held CB scoreless.

“We came out tentative and confused with the Columbia-Burbank Defense,” said DW Coach Troy Larsen. “At half time we were able to coach the kids up on what CB was doing and had a really good third quarter.”

On the first play of the fourth quarter, DW freshman quarterback Lash Larue hit Brayden Miller for a 27-yard touchdown pass. Running back Damien Johnson ran in the two-point conversion to close CB’s lead to 13-8.

“Conditioning came into play in the fourth quarter, which halted our comeback,” said Larsen. CB scored twice in the fourth to close out the game.

“Defensively we need to concentrate and communicate to get to our correct spots; we are going to the wrong assignments which is leaving a lot of the field open for our opponents,” Larsen added. “Offensively we struggled blocking up front and that showed with CB collecting eight sacks and a lot of hurries.”

DW also fumbled the ball 10 times, but recovered nine of them.

Still, Larsen was pleased with much of what he saw Friday. “Defensively Jared Williams played his heart out and led the team in tackles with eight,” he said. “Jack Willis also tallied eight tackles from his defensive end position. Lash Larue went into the game at quarterback on our third possession and sparked the offense with 24 yards rushing and 104 yards passing. Both led the team.”

For the game, Larue completed nine of 20 pass attempts for 104 yards and one touchdown. He threw one interception.

Chris Andrews caught five passes for 51 yards, and Miller had three catches for 57 yards and a TD.

From the QB position, Larue had eight rushes for 24 yards. Johnson carried the ball 14 times for 19 yards, and Miller had four carries for 15 yards.

“For DW the outlook for 2018 can still be good, since all of our mistakes are fixable and fundamental mistakes that we are causing,” Larsen said. “Athletically we are as talented as anyone.”

DW plays host to DeSales Friday night in Dayton, with game time at 7 p.m.

First DW Combine Volleyball Team Takes to the Floor

EXPERIENCED UPPERCLASSMEN WILL LEAD TEAM AS SEASON STARTS THIS WEEK

By Ken Graham | THE TIMES

DAYTON—New Dayton-Waitsburg volleyball coach Tara Brenner says she has high hopes for this season’s first-ever DW combine volleyball team.

“We have a great turn out of athletic young ladies that are excited and hopeful for a successful combine Volleyball season,” Brenner said. “Playing in the State Championship this year is our number-one goal.”

She added, “As League approaches we are working on creating an unstoppable defense and a quick offense.”

DW’s varsity team includes eight Waitsburg girls and five from Dayton. Waiting in the wings are JV team members, including nine from Dayton and three from Waitsburg. All are freshmen and sophomores.

“Our varsity has many returning experienced players, with Kaleigh White and Devon Harshman leading the middle, Neylan Bryan and Kailyn Lewis as the brave and aggressive outside hitters, and Tatum Laughery and Shaelyn Fortier as the defensive specialists,” Brenner said. “Watch out for our younger selfless setters Teagen Larson and Mya Wood.”

The DW girls began their season this week with matches in Oakesdale on Tuesday and at Weston-Athena on Wednesday. They play their first home match in Dayton on Sept. 18 against DeSales.

The Team will play three home matches this season in Dayton and three in Waitsburg.

VOLLEYBALL SCHEDULE CHANGES

DAYTON—After last week’s paper went to press, we received a slight revision to this year’s Dayton-Waitsburg volleyball schedule.

The match at Liberty Christian, originally scheduled for Sept. 13 has been re-scheduled for Oct. 15. The JV game starts at 5 p.m. and the varsity game starts at 6 p.m.

In addition, a match was added to the schedule for Wednesday of this week at Weston-Athena.

NO DW SOCCER OR CROSS-COUNTRY THIS YEAR

DAYTON—In last week’s issue of The Times we posted a soccer schedule for Dayton-Waitsburg for fall 2018. However, Dayton-Waitsburg will not be fielding a soccer team this year. We inadvertently published the schedule from 2017. We’re sorry for the error.

DW will also not have a cross-country team this year, due to lack of participation.

Coulston Takes First at WW Fair

GRACE COULSTON, 17, HAS BECOME A VETERAN RAISING AND SHOWING BOER GOATS

By Brianna Wray | THE TIMES

WALLA WALLA—Waitsburg's own Grace Coulston won grand champion at the Walla Walla Fair & Frontier Days held Aug 29-Sept 2. The winning goat, Grace's Red Princess is an example of a Boer Goat's stout frame.

Coulston says working with the goats is fun, but her favorite part of showing livestock at the Fair is "all the people I get to meet and how much everyone's supported me in my passion. And how nice everyone has been."

Coulston discovered raising livestock with the encouragement of a family friend. "I got a gift goat from a family friend who is in the show circuit I am in now, and she made this deal where if I got a pregnant goat from her I would give her the kid back and I got to keep the goat. Now me, being a 5-year-old, thought that was the best deal ever and ever. Since I created a bond with that goat it just sort of took off from there."

Now 17, Coulston is a well-established veteran on the livestock circuit. She's gained recognition at the Rodeo City Classic, in Ellensburg, and serves on the Junior American Boer Goat Association board.

Upon the Fair's conclusion a great many goats are sold. But Coulston has a growing herd of 30-40 goats to keep her busy.

Blessing Box in Waitsburg

LEAVE WHAT YOU CAN, TAKE WHAT YOU NEED

By Brianna Wray | THE TIMES

Waitsburg—A blessing box has been installed in front of the Waitsburg Christian Church. In it, individuals in need will find food and hygiene products.

This community resource is "open to all with no judgment or questions asked," said the church's Senior Pastor, Matthew Wyatt.

For its inaugural run, the three-shelved pantry is stocked with dish soap, ramen soup, toilet paper and peanut butter. But in the future, contents will vary.

Citizens are invited to donate items to the box as well.

"If you can place items in the box, we are thankful. If you need to take something out of the box, you are welcome to it. There won't be a lock on the box or questions asked on why you need something," Wyatt said.

Wyatt said he would also like to thank David Long for handling the construction project.

Wyatt also noted that the box will not replace the Waitsburg Food Bank, but will function in addition to it and serve those with immediate needs.

The Waitsburg Resource Center food bank is open Thursdays and Saturdays from 2-4 p.m.

TEENY MCMUNN: MY RECIPE BOX

Cashew Chicken Salad Sandwiches

I found this recipe in the Costco Connection and I liked that it used apple and cucumber. Remember the chicken poppy seed salad? It seems several chicken recipes have nuts and fruit. That one had pecans and grapes.

I didn't make this one yet but will later. For me, this will be used as a salad.

A few notes on cashews: Cashews are packed with antioxidants, vitamins E, K, and B6, and minerals such as copper, phosphorus, zinc, magnesium and iron. Many of these can be hard to find in other foods.

Since this recipe came from the Costco magazine, it mentions the Kirkland brand is listed for several items, which I will drop.

INGREDIENTS:

- 2 c. diced cooked chicken
- ½ c. chopped cashews
- ½ c. chopped red apple
- ½ c. chopped peeled cucumber
- ½ c. mayonnaise
- ½ tsp sugar
- ½ tsp salt
- Dash of pepper
- 6 lettuce leaves
- 6 Kaiser rolls or croissants, split.

DIRECTIONS:

In a large bowl, combine mayonnaise, sugar, salt and pepper. Add to chicken mixture and toss to coat. Place a lettuce leaf and ½ cup chicken salad on each roll or croissant. Makes six servings.

MY NOTES:

Sounds easy enough and a good combination. On the chicken poppy seed salad recipe, its dressing was a combination of lemon yogurt and mayonnaise, so I could see that being used for this, or any flavor of yogurt. One could substitute the cashews, though I think the cashews would give it a rich flavor.

ENJOY!

Next week I will share Anita Baker's Apple Butter recipe. Apple Butter is a favorite of mine, especially on pancakes with peanut butter.

Each puzzle consists of a square grid with numbers appearing in all squares. The object is to shade squares so:

3	4	3	1	5	③	④	①	⑤
4	4	2	3	3	④	②	①	③
2	1	5	4	4	②	①	⑤	④

- No number appears in a row or column more than once.
- Shaded (black) squares do not touch each other vertically or horizontally.
- When completed, all un-shaded (white) squares create a single continuous area.

Phone and Internet Discounts Available to CenturyLink Customers

The Washington Utilities and Transportation Commission designated CenturyLink as an Eligible Telecommunications Carrier within its service area for universal service purposes. CenturyLink's basic local service rates for residential voice lines are $23.50 per month and business services are $35.00 per month. Specific rates will be provided upon request.

CenturyLink participates in a government benefit program (Lifeline) to make residential telephone or broadband service more affordable to eligible low-income individuals and families. Eligible customers are those that meet eligibility standards as defined by the FCC and state commissions. Residents who live on federally recognized Tribal Lands may qualify for additional Tribal benefits if they participate in certain additional federal eligibility programs. The Lifeline discount is available for only one telephone or broadband service per household, which can be on either wireline or wireless service. Broadband speeds must be 15 Mbps download and 2 Mbps upload or faster to qualify.

A household is defined for the purposes of the Lifeline program as any individual or group of individuals who live together at the same address and share income and expenses. Lifeline service is not transferable, and only eligible consumers may enroll in the program. Consumers who willfully make false statements in order to obtain Lifeline telephone or broadband service can be punished by fine or imprisonment and can be barred from the program.
