AT THE LIBERTY: "The Garfield Movie"

THE TIMES

DAYTON—Garfield (voiced by Chris Pratt), the world-famous, Monday-hating, lasagna-loving indoor cat, is about to have a wild outdoor adventure. After an unexpected reunion with his long-lost father – scruffy street cat Vic (voiced by Samuel L. Jackson) – Garfield and his canine friend Odie are forced from their perfectly pampered life into joining Vic in a hilarious, high-stakes heist. Rotten Tomatoes critics gave this movie a 36% favorable rating, but audiences gave it 80%. It is rated PG for action/peril and mild thematic elements. Runtime is 101 minutes.

Notice: Several upcoming attractions will soon be at the Liberty Theater in June. On June 15, at 3 p.m., a free matinee showing of "Back to the Future, Part II" (1989) will be shown as part of All Wheels Weekend. Marty McFly (Michael J. Fox) and his friend Dr. Emmett "Doc" Brown (Christopher Lloyd) travel from 1985 to 2015 to prevent Marty's son from sabotaging the McFly family's future. Back to the Future Part II was a ground-breaking project for the visual effects studio Industrial Light & Magic (ILM). It is lots of fun.

We will begin our free summer movies for children with the movie "Journey 2" on both June 18 and 21, at 1 pm. A small popcorn and small beverage is available for only $2.

Tickets are on sale for the live production of "The Odd Couple" (female version) at the theater and its website. Performances will be June 21, 22 and 23, directed by Dave Campbell. Starring in this play are locally well-known Elizabeth Arebalos-Jagelski and Deanna Tipton who have combined forces to turn the tables on the ever-popular Neil Simon play and create a highly enjoyable and buoyant comedy rich in rewarding laughter, but touching upon the bonds that create friendships.

OBITUARY

Tammy Brown

March 27, 1970 – March 22, 2024

Tammy Brown age 54 passed away peacefully on March 22 at Providence Saint Mary's Medical Center. Born on March 27, 1970 in Dayton, WA to Walt and Rosie Warehime. She was a proud resident of Waitsburg and was a graduate from Waitsburg High School in 1988. After high school she attended Walla Walla Community College and Whitworth where she received degrees from both schools for sports medicine and physical education.

Her greatest joy in life was when she became a mother to Zac and Jaidyn, whom she enjoyed supporting in whatever they chose to participate in. Her favorite, was going to their sporting events.

She is survived by a son Zac and son-in-law Keven, a daughter Jaidyn, three grandchildren Forrest, Zander, and Aubree, her brother Tim and parents Walt and Rosie.

A celebration of life will be held on July 6 from 2 to 5 p.m. at the Lions building in Waitsburg. We would love for you to join us in celebrating Tammy.

ed revenue of $2,775,971 and expenditures of $2,850,000. Projects identified include an air filtration system, refreshing the exterior, and updates to the auditorium at the secondary school.

Elementary school projects include carpet, library furniture, a security gate, and a lift update. Projects in general include fencing, new technology, underground sprinklers, and Vocational-AG doors.

The Transportation Fund balance is $89,225 before a depreciation payment of $83,047 in August. The district is in the process of ordering a 40-passenger bus, and possibly an additional bus in the 2025-2026 school year.

Stewart gave an overview of projects planned for the next four years with capital levy funds. These include some classroom remodels, improvements to the auditorium, repairing the gym floor, fencing, technology, and repairing the ventilation system at the high school. The scope and precise cost of these projects are undetermined at this point.

The district plans to move forward with the fencing, some of the concrete work, and possibly the underground sprinklers this summer. Pruitt Flooring walked through the gym and gave ideas for repairs that could extend the life of the current floor a few more years.

The board discussed the need to add more door security, cameras, and security at the athletic complex.

Board member Griffen asked for a prioritized list, project proposals, and quotes before projects begin. He said he would like to see updates on the projects at each of the work sessions. Griffen said he wanted to make sure there were not too many projects at the same time which could lead to running out of funds if there are overages in one of the project areas.

Head Custodian John Delp said he is working on getting at least three quotes for each of the proposed projects. Robust discussion ensued on projects and how they will be carried out, the bidding process, and making sure the board is well informed on what the district is doing with the levy funds.

The meeting adjourned at 8:15 p.m. and the next school board meeting is scheduled for June 19, 2024.

Cardinal Spring Football prepare for EOU camp

By Karen Huwe | THE TIMES

WAITSBURG—Spring football is going strong at Waitsburg High School. The players have been preparing to attend a football camp at Eastern Oregon University, June 16–19. Waitsburg athletes attended the EOU camp last year, and Cardinal Coach Gabe Kiefel said the boys will again match up with other 8-man football teams this year.

On May 31, Coach Kiefel, his staff, and high school football players held a one-day football camp for elementary and middle school students where athletes participated in drills, learned skills, and played a friendly game of flag football.

Identify Birds by their Calls - Yes you can

By Paul Ocker | THE TIMES

One of the things I truly enjoy about Waitsburg is that because of our oasis of trees and water in a normally dry environment, we are provided with a litany of bird songs at any time of day. For example, when I sit on my front porch on a weekend morning drinking my coffee, I can hear up to 20 different types of birds calling to each other. Sitting on my back porch at dusk, I hear the evening songs as the birds go to bed. And when I let the dog out one last time for the evening, I regularly hear male and female owls calling back and forth to each other across town.

While I find it easy to identify species like American Robins, California Quail, and Ring-Necked Pheasants by their call, there are many birds that I struggle with in the cacophony of tweets and twitters (much like human's online social media). It amazes, and frankly baffles me, that some avian biologists can identify hundreds of birds by their call alone. I know this is something I may never be able to do, however, Cornell University has put out an app to do just that.

The "Merlin Bird ID" is free on the Google Play or Apple's App Store. After downloading the app, users can set the map to their location, (I used the Northwestern United States.) Now the phone is initiated to listen for bird calls and identify the species of birds it "hears."

I was pleasantly surprised when my phone listened for ten minutes on my front porch and recorded 18 species of birds. While I cannot be sure that every bird it detected was identified accurately, it did seem as though it is really good. Many of the birds identified were very common to this area, while other birds I had not heard of or did not know were here.

The birds I hear during June from my house include the American Robin, House Finch, Eurasian Collared Dove, House Sparrow, American Goldfinch, Lesser Goldfinch, California Quail, Ring Necked Pheasant, Black Chinned Hummingbird, European Starling, and the wild turkey. Less common birds the app has identified included the Cedar Waxwing, House Wren, Warbling Vireo, the Chipping Sparrow, and Black-headed Grosbeak.

Birds reported that leave me questioning the app's 100% veracity include the brightly colored Yellow Warbler, Vaux's Swift, and the White Breasted Nuthatch. I would also like to know what type of owl

I was hearing at night in town and determined that it was indeed the Great Horned Owl.

The app also allows users to click on the identified bird's picture for more information, and save it to a list if users are so inclined. One can also act as an amateur naturalist and keep track of those birds for their research. A recent post on ebird.com reported that that the app's users and everyday citizens helped Cornell University determine the number of Bald Eagles in the lower United States was more than double what it originally thought. Not bad results for amateur birders. If you have a curiosity about the types of birds you are hearing and want to do a little research, this app is a fun way to identify birds by their calls. So, wonder no more.

Waitsburg's week of celebrations and honors

By Karen Huwe | THE TIMES

WAITSBURG—Waitsburg celebrated a week of graduations, promotions, induction or installation and numerous parties.

On June 4, the Kindergarten class held an afternoon graduation ceremony in the Elementary's multipurpose room. Twenty students sang "Kindergarten Medley" and "Goodbye My Friend" before receiving certificates from their teacher, Mrs. Jordan Greer.

In the evening, the school honored Hope Adkins, Sarah Daves, Karissa Potts, and Sara Wilson, inducting them into the National Honor Society at the High School Auditorium. To be eligible, the students had to have a GPA of 3.5 or higher and complete an application process followed by a team interview.

The seniors participated in the senior walk on June 6. After taking group and individual photos on the high school's front lawn, the students walked through the elementary halls, getting high-fives and hugs from students lining the halls. They walked through Preston Hall Middle School and finished their walk at the High School. That evening, they attended the annual Baccalaureate with teacher Matt Elder as speaker.

On the afternoon of June 7, twelve Pre-K students received their graduation certificates from teacher Mrs. Eleanora Montgomery. The group sang "Clap Clap" and "Moving to Kindergarten" before enjoying refreshments.

down the aisle to "Pomp and Circumstance" at 8:00 pm on June 7 in the high school gym. ASB President Blake French led the audience in the Pledge of Allegiance, followed by Superintendent David Woods' welcome speech.

Speeches by honor students Makenna Barron and Jasper Morrow, Salutatorian Alyssa Segraves, and Valedictorian Julio Mercado (4.0 GPA) were insightful.

Principal Joe Wirtzberger presented scholarships, and school board members Sarah Boudrieau and Christy House presented diplomas to eighteen seniors. The group walked out to the song "Young" by Kenny Chesney.

The Class of 2028 was promoted to high school in a ceremony held on Monday, June 10, in the High School Auditorium.

Joe Wirtzberger spoke about the class and then presented three awards. Verbena McLaughlin was presented with the Student of the Year award in science and mathematics. Juca Beckman was honored as Student of the Year in ELA.

The fifteen eighth-graders received their promotion certificates from school board member Sarah Boudrieau. Wirtzberger ended the ceremony by thanking the parents for having respectful children.

The Lions Club installation of officers and board members that evening was preceded by Ross Hamann receiving the Melvin Scott Award. The following were sworn in as board members and officers for 2024-2025:

- President Connor Talbott,
- First V.P., Dale Robers
- Second V.P., Tom House,
- Third V.P., David Woods

A good many local dads spent this Father's Day weekend lending a hand to the exhibitors and organizers of the Waitsburg Livestock Show and Fair that took place at the Waitsburg fairgrounds on June 14 and 15. Fair President Sandra Farley estimates that approximately 70 exhibitors participated in the event. The longstanding Waitsburg tradition – originally known as the Waitsburg Junior Livestock Show – formally changed its name to the Waitsburg Livestock Show and Fair several years ago in order to be more inclusive. The show was once open to only 4-H and FFA members, but now welcomes open class entries, including Pee-Wee, adult and applied arts entries.

The Waitsburg Volunteer Firemen voted three campships to the local Camp Fire Girls, to be used at Camp Wooten in July. Each year a group of the girls spend several hours, scrubbing floors, washing windows and various cleaning jobs at the fire station. The Firemen felt that their appreciation for the work could best be expressed by the campships which would allow three girls to attend camp who might not be able to afford it.

Moroccan Kefta Kebabs

As we move towards the summer solstice, many of our meals will be enjoyed on the back deck. From all-American cheeseburgers or Mexican carne asada to Korean bulgogi, the art of grilling is a culinary skill that brings people together all around the world. In fact, there is something quite primal in the communal experience of gathering around a meal sizzling over an open flame. A reminder of the universal commonalities of the human experience that far outweigh the differences. Here, ground beef is exuberantly flavored with North African spices and aromatic fresh herbs before being grilled to perfection on skewers.

Ingredients:

- 1 small yellow onion
- 1 pound ground beef (15- to 20-percent fat)
- ½ cup packed flat leaf parsley, finely chopped
- ½ cup packed cilantro, finely chopped
- ½ cup fresh mint leaves, finely chopped
- 2 heaped teaspoons sweet paprika
- 1 teaspoon ground cumin
- 1 teaspoon ground coriander
- ½ heaped teaspoon kosher salt (or 1/4 teaspoon fine salt)
- ½ teaspoon fresh ground black pepper
- Pinch of ground cayenne
- Olive oil

Directions:

With the large hole side of a box grater, grate the onion directly into a large mixing bowl, collecting all the onion juices. To the onion add the beef, parsley, cilantro, mint, paprika, cumin, coriander, salt, black pepper and cayenne. Using your hands or a large spoon, combine the ingredients until evenly mixed together.

In a small skillet heat a little oil over medium-high heat. When hot, add about a teaspoon of the beef mixture to the pan and cook until seared on both sides and cooked through. Taste the sample for seasoning, then add more salt as needed to the meat mixture.

Take between 2 to 3 tablespoons of the mixture and use your hands to mold it onto a skewer to form a log. Be sure to press the meat firmly around the skewer. Repeat with the rest of the mixture. If using long skewers form two logs on each skewer. Place the formed kefta kebabs on a plate and cover with plastic wrap. Refrigerate for about 30 minutes to allow the kebabs to firm up.

While the kebabs are chilling, heat your grill and prepare your side dishes. Heat grill to medium-high and brush the grate with oil to prevent sticking. When ready, brush both sides of the kebabs lightly with olive oil. Cook the kebabs for about 3 to 5 minutes per side, allowing the meat to get defined grill marks. Use a meat thermometer to check for doneness. Be careful when flipping not to break the kebabs off their skewers. It is helpful to use a metal spatula to turn them. Arrange cooked kebabs on a serving platter and sprinkle with a little finishing salt. Serve immediately with your favorite sides and garnishes (see notes).

Notes:

These kefta kebabs are fabulous with ground beef, but traditionally can also be made with ground lamb. I have seen versions made with ground turkey or chicken as well.

Instead of kebabs on skewers, you could also shape the kefta mixture into patties and grill them like a burger. If you don't have an outdoor grill, you could use a grill pan or even a regular cast-iron skillet on your indoor stove. However you cook them, you want to get a good sear or char on the outside to enhance the flavor.

Serve these kefta kebabs with your favorite mezze accompaniments, such as hummus, olives, pickled peppers, or my garlic tzatziki sauce (below). This week, I also served these with a Moroccan spiced rice pilaf, warm flatbread, and a simple salad of romaine lettuce, tomato, feta, and pickled red onion.

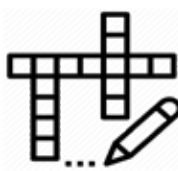

My Tzatziki recipe:

Grate 1 English cucumber into a strainer and set over a sink. Sprinkle with a pinch of salt and allow the cucumber to drain for a few minutes then gently squeeze out the excess moisture. In a bowl, combine the cucumber with 1 ½ cups plain Greek-style yogurt, 2 tablespoons minced fresh dill, 1 tablespoon minced fresh mint, 1 garlic clove minced, juice of half a lemon and 2 tablespoons of extra-virgin olive oil. Season to taste with salt and pepper then allow to chill in the refrigerator for at least one hour.

Enjoy.
