Hospital Considers Study to Determine Direction

HEALTH LEADERS WANT OUTSIDE INPUT INTO BEST WAY TO SPEND BOND MONEY

By Dian Ver Valen | THE TIMES

DAYTON – The Columbia County Health District's board of directors will decide Thursday whether to hire an outside firm to help them determine how best to spend the $5.5 million bond approved by voters in November.

"We really need to be good stewards of the public dollar," said Ted Paterson, a member of the board. "That's why we're looking at turning to an outside firm before we race into selecting an architect and a contractor and progress into a final design."

In November, voters in the hospital district, which includes all of Columbia County plus the portion of Walla Walla County within the Waitsburg School District boundaries, approved the health district's improvement bond by just over the required 60 percent.

The bond was intended to be used for the first major renovation to Dayton General Hospital since the facility was built in 1964; proposals included improvements to the nurses' station, food service facilities, and a major expansion of the physical therapy facilities including the addition of an aqua therapy pool.

With no more specific plans than a general idea about which areas needed most attention in the facility, however, the district's board of directors met with hospital and clinic staff and a Washington Hospital Association facilitator for an all-day retreat at Dayton's Best Western Hotel last week.

"It was a discussion only," Paterson said. "No votes were cast; no decisions were made."

Attendees discussed hospital district demographics (such as age of the community) and patient volume and needs; federal and state impacts to the system now and in the future through Medicaid; and the ability to move forward, Paterson said.

"We concluded, after about five hours of discussion, that we need to collect some additional data," he said. "We're looking at hiring a firm, and are gathering references at this time, that will provide some more strategic direction regarding what it is that we build, or redesign, or remodel."

The firm they are considering, Paterson said, is an objective, non-architectural company that would look at the architecture of a remodel, the desires of the system to change, the efficiencies of the recommended or considered changes, the district's volume, community needs, and return on investment.

"Our goal is to ensure we move forward in an efficient and operational manner that enhances our operation," Paterson said. "We need to be sure that what we're going to do will benefit healthcare in our community."

Bly and Johnson Step Up for Spots on Planning Commission

WAITSBURG APPLICANTS BRING STRONG SKILL SETS AND EXPERIENCE TO THE TABLE

By Dena Wood | THE TIMES

WAITSBURG - Establishing a quorum at Waitsburg planning commission meetings may soon become a bit easier. Uniquely qualified Waitsburg residents Stan Bly and Larry Johnson have each applied to fill two currently vacant seats on the board. Approval of the applicants is on the agenda for Wednesday night's city council meeting.

The six-position planning commission is chaired by William Potolochio and made up of commission members K.C. Kuykendall, who is also a city council member; Karen Gregutt; and Marie Gagnon. Bart Baxter recently resigned his seat, and a sixth spot has been vacant for an extended period.

At least three members, besides the chair, are required at meetings in order to establish a quorum - an event that failed to take place at the first scheduled public hearing, in December, on the recently proposed Whoopemup Meadows subdivision. That hearing was rescheduled and took place Jan. 12.

Bly sees the proposed 114-unit development, which would be built on 42 acres in the northeast corner of the city, as a potential asset to the community and is eager to be a part of trying to make that happen. "I'm looking forward to it. I really hope it goes through for the folks. It will be a good thing for Waitsburg," he said.

Bly grew up and graduated from high school in Prescott and has lived with his wife and two children in Waitsburg for 16 years. He owns and operates Bly Plumbing. As a licensed journeyman plumber he has worked on water, sewer and utilities for multiple subdivisions in Walla Walla. "I know those types of things - what works and what doesn't," he said.

Bly attended the Jan. 12 public hearing on the Whoopemup Meadows proposal and expressed understanding of Warren Land Company's frustration at the uncertainty over who owns the utility lines - the city or the Port of Walla Walla - that the proposed development will need to access.

"Let's figure out who owns what and don't make them spend another dime until we do," Bly said. "Then we can go from there."

Johnson has lived in Waitsburg since 2002 and, with his wife Deanne, is the reigning Commercial Club Citizen of the Year. He was a city council board member when the Whoopemup Meadows property, then owned by Andy and Camille McElhinney, was originally annexed into the city and zoned to residential property in 2006 and 2007. "Those weren't always pretty years," he said.

Johnson brings to the table years of relevant experience gleaned from his career as a registered land surveyor and civil engineer. "I have a good understanding of what needs to happen. I have a background in that sort of thing and I feel comfortable with it," said Johnson.

Johnson said he felt the planning commission handled the discrepancy over the utility line ownership as well as they could have at last week's meeting. "Those types of

TOUCHET VALLEY LIFE

OBITUARY

LIZZIE SCHELL

DECEMBER 14, 1917-
JANUARY 13, 2015

Lizzie Schell, surrounded by family members, left this world on January 13, 2015. Lizzie was the daughter of John and Elise Stucki, wife of John Schell, mother of Johnnie Schell, Rose Schell Kling, Betty Schell Hitt and Sharon Schell Steinhoff. She was a grandmother of 8, great-grandmother of 12 and great-great grandmother of 5.

Born in Nampa, Idaho on December 14, 1917, she spent her early years in Nampa. She met her husband-to-be, John Schell, in the Nampa area and they were married on February 23, 1937. Their marriage lasted for more than 60 years.

As a young bride, she helped her husband by working on the farm and helping with the chores, even after her children were born. She often related how she had to milk the cows on their wedding night.

Often times, when she was asked the secret of her long-life, she said it was due to her many years of milking cows and hard work. John and Lizzie moved to Dayton in 1967, where they lived the remainder of their lives.

Lizzie was a long time member of the LDS church, was a greeter there and was known as a "champion" hugger. She loved to hug everyone. She attended the Dayton Senior Center and enjoyed her time there for many years. She enjoyed playing pool with the guys and gave them a run for their money.

She was loved by many as a caring person and as someone who never had a bad word to say about anyone. Her love of animals was legendary and dozens of stray cats and other animals found their way to her home.

Lizzie loved music and dancing and thrilled all of her grandchildren when she played the harmonica.

She will be missed by all her family and friends, but will be leaving us with many beautiful memories.

A celebration of life will be held at the Fairgrounds in the Youth Bldg. in Dayton, WA. Please join us on Saturday, JAN 24TH, from 1:00 - 4:00pm.

BIRTH

Carter Grant Bessey

Michael & Genna Bessey are proud to announce the arrival of Carter Grant Bessey at 4:55 p.m. at St. Mary's Hospital, Walla Walla. Carter weighed 8 lbs 10 oz. and was 20 inches long at birth.

Proud grandparents are Herb & Norma Bessey of Waitsburg, Wash. and Larry & Jill Palmer of Garfield, Wash. Great grandparents include George & Joyce Strong of Potlatch, Ida. and the late Earl and Hazel Palmer of Farmington, Wash., Nancy Nickerson the late Marvin Nickerson of Idaho Falls, Ida. and the late Grant and late Carol Bessey of Ashton, Ida. Richard and Lori Bessey of Walla Walla are Carter's local uncle and aunt.

Genna, Michael and Carter are all doing fine at their home in Prescott area.

PIONEER PORTRAITS

Ten Years Ago January 27, 2005

For future generations of students, sports fans and visitors to Waitsburg High School, the name "Kison Court" and the reason Waitsburg's gymnasium is so named will no longer be a point of local knowledge only, nor will it fade with the passing of the generation who remember the late Ernest and Dorothy Kison.

Adda Roberts celebrated her 98th birthday on Monday, January 24 with family members including daughter and son-in-law, Jan and Bill Zuger, great grandson, Danny Dunn and great-great grandchildren, McKenzie and Cody Dunn.

Twenty-Five Years Ago January 25, 1990

Veteran reporter Vance Orchard, who has written newspaper stories and books for six decades, brings that expertise to the Times as a columnist in February. Orchard will write a weekly catch-all column very similar to the one he wrote for more than a decade for the Walla Walla Union-Bulletin.

J.W. "Buffalo Bill" Thompson, Mr. Waitsburg Development himself, had the great idea of featuring the Bruce House at night. If you walk downtown and see that sterling example of Mid-victorian architecture lit up for all to see you can thank Bill. He has been working on some other items of interest to local folks, and if someone can encourage new business or industry in Waitsburg, Bill sure has our vote.

Fifty Years Ago February 2, 1965

The state will contribute $4,600 from its flood control fund toward repair and restoration of flood-damaged levees at Waitsburg, State Conservation Director Roy Mundy announced Wednesday. The work, expected to cost $36,400 in all, will be carried out by the Army Engineers.

James A. Stonecipher is now chairman of the Walla Walla County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) committee. With the recent death of Lewis Collard, who had served as committee chairman for many years and had been re-elected chairman for 1965, each member of the committee advanced one position.

Seventy-Five Years Ago January 26, 1940

A group of 30 drove to the Forrest Conover home Friday evening for a surprise on Mrs. Conover. A pot luck supper was served, the evening spent socially.

Mrs. Merle Pasley Vennum, student of the University of Washington, has satisfactorily completed studies for graduation, the registrars office announced today. Approval of her work completed at the end of the autumn quarter last month, gives Mrs. Vennum a degree of bachelor of science in nursing from the College of Arts and Sciences.

Fred Bachmann, Jr. sophomore engineering student at the University was named at the scholastic honor roll for the fall quarter.

Mrs. Vincent Jones and children of Okanogan came Friday to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Moxie Zuger. Zuger is confined to his home by illness.

One Hundred Years Ago January 22, 1915

For the benefit of the Waitsburg poultrymen, Ole Norris will sing at the Dayton K of P Minstrel show. "It's the last feather from our Longhorn rooster's tail." Hear the song "It's a long ways to California."

Fred Bachman arrived home last Friday after a two month's visit with relatives in Iowa. Fred has gained so much weight while he has been away playing that it will take considerable running around the hills to put him in condition again.

Willis Hales, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Hales is in town from Pasco for a few days visiting his parents.

Neson Grewell, who recently sold his farm of 560 acres in Whetstone Hollow to Henry Zuger, has purchased 960 acres of wheat land between Endicott and LaCrosse, Whitman County, and expects to move his family there about March first.

The sport of the season on Jasper Mountain is trail breaking. The mountaineers do not take to the sport as enthusiastically as one would wish. However, a few braves succeeded in getting the road in shape so it is now possible to get to Waitsburg.

One Hundred Twenty-Five Years Ago January 25, 1890

Buffalo Bill and his Wild West Show are in Carcelona, Spain. His Indians are learning to talk Spanish.

Another family made happy by the advent of a brand new eight pound son last Wednesday night, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Jones are the fortunate parents.

Cards are out announcing the marriage of J. D. Laidlaw and Miss Cora B. Johns at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. M. Weller on Tuesday, January 28.

On Wednesday morning, James Loundagin slipped and fell with result to badly cut his right hand with an axe. Dr. Hudgin dressed the wound.

The Christian Church has secured the services of Elder P. R. Burnett of Monmouth, Oregon for the coming year, beginning the first Lord's day in February. All the members will please take notice of the time and endeavor to be present. W. S. Mineer, clerk.

POLICE NOTES

Jan 15: Deputies responded to Stonecipher Road for a report of domestic violence. No arrest made.

Jan. 16: Deputies responded to Stonecipher Road for a reported unwanted person. While en-route, deputies learned the unwanted person had arrest warrants. After trying to hide, suspect was located and arrested.

Dayton

Jan. 13 Unwanted subject refusing to leave the premises on S. 3rd Street; subject left area when deputies responded. Harassment reported at Cameron Courts regarding several subjects who visited the residence the night before. Report of juveniles banging on doors and running away on S. 5th Street.

Jan. 14 Deputies responded to a fight reported between two juvenile females at the Dayton High School regarding issues that occurred off school grounds; investigation is ongoing although no injuries were reported and no citations were issued. Aggressive dog reported on E. Washington Avenue; the dog was in a homeowner's yard but had been removed by its unidentified owner prior to the deputy's arrival.

Jan. 15 Deputies checked on a suspicious vehicle parked near the train trestle on W. Commercial Street; the vehicle was unoccupied with its driver-side window rolled down. A non-injury collision was reported after a westbound vehicle struck a deer on Highway 12 at milepost 388 damaging the passenger side of the vehicle and requiring it to be towed. A vehicle collided with a dirt embankment on Highway 12 at milepost 382 when it left the roadway; the driver was treated on scene by emergency medical technicians. Two motorcycles were stolen from a residence on W. Clay Street. A caller reported that a reckless driver failed to stop on N. 1st Street when the school bus lights were activated.

Jan. 16 Deputies responded to a report that an adult male was causing a disturbance on S. 4th Street; they contacted the man, who was upset, and resolved the situation. A large, red tricycle was found by the foot bridge on E. Tremont Street and returned to its owner. A vehicle was blocking a resident's driveway on E. Park Street; the vehicle owner was contacted and moved it out of the way. A deputy was flagged down by a citizen on E. Main Street to take a report regarding threats being made to the citizen's juvenile son by another adult male. A reckless driver in a Mustang was called in heading westbound on Highway 12 near milepost 382; deputies located the vehicle driving through Dayton and did not observe any reckless driving.

Jan. 17 Nothing to report.

Jan. 18 A brown, 1997 Ford Expedition was stolen from a driveway on E. Washington Avenue sometime during the night; the vehicle was recovered abandoned on Eckler Mountain Road the following morning. A non-injury collision occurred on Highway 12 at milepost 360 when a vehicle collided with a deer; the vehicle's airbags deployed but the driver refused medical treatment.

The Future of Dayton's Streets is "TBD"

The City of Dayton is asking the city's voters next month to approve a sales tax increase within the city of 0.2%. The funds will be used to help improve the city's streets and sidewalks.

If the February 10 measure is approved by at least 50% of voters, Dayton will set up a new "Transportation Benefit District" (TBD – get it?) which will collect the new funds and can use them only for transportation improvements.

So the future of potential projects to improve the city's ailing streets is to be determined by the voters.

The tax increase is miniscule: it will add 20 cents to a $100 purchase within the Dayton city limits. Twenty cents! The next time I buy a ten-dollar bag of cat food at the grocery store, I'll be contributing two cents to the improvement of Dayton's streets.

The amount of revenue to be collected is modest as well. According to city officials, the new tax funds will amount to roughly $69,000 per year.

That's a small part of what's needed to make the streets right – the city estimates it would take over $7 million – but it will be a big help. Not only will the money pay for getting started on projects, but it can be used as matching funds for state and federal grants as well. It could also be used to pay interest on bonds for larger projects.

I've spent enough time driving around Spokane to know that Dayton hardly has a monopoly on ailing streets. Every city in the world that has cars has potholes. And every city in the world struggles to figure out how to pay to fix them.

Grants from the state and the feds has been the main way street projects in Dayton have been funded, but those funds have gotten a lot scarcer in the last decade. Local streets have suffered for it.

Voters in Dayton should jump at this chance to help get the city's streets back to where they should be. I'll keep feeding Buddy the cat, even if it costs me a couple of extra pennies to do it.

EMMA PHILBROOK: STUDENT LIFE

NOT EVEN THE SEAHAWKS COULD PROVIDE INSPIRATION FOR THIS COLUMN

Inspiration for this column is a bit like wind power. When the wind blows, you get power. When the wind blows too hard, you can't use all the power. And when the wind isn't blowing, you're in a considerable pickle, as there's no way to save the surplus power from the days the wind blows too hard.

On relatively uneventful weeks (like this one), you're sometimes reduced to blowing really, really hard in the general direction of your metaphorical wind turbines, and possibly enlisting a few friends and/or small mammals to do the same.

I don't know if this sort of inspiration trouble applies to any of your jobs. Just in case it does, here are a few suggestions on what not to do:

- Don't look on the Internet. There is literally nothing there that is even remotely similar or relevant to your everyday life.
- Even if you do go to the Internet for inspiration (which you shouldn't!), don't watch any murder mysteries. Instead of typing, you'll end up huddled underneath your bed with your stuffed animal collection, wielding a baseball bat.
- Working on a recreational writing project to get your creative juices flowing is a great idea. But after half an hour, when your parody of an obscure cartoon is three pages longer and your column is seven words long (this, coincidentally, being the length of your heading), you might need to put the fiction aside for a while.
- Don't fake a home invasion just so you can write a column about it.
- Faking Ebola is a bad idea, too. It involves a lot of barfing, and if you want to pet your cat, the cat will have to wear a Hazmat suit.
- Just say no to plagiarism. Not only is it unethical, it's hard to spell.
- Avoid extensive desperation-induced coverage of subjects you don't fully understand. In my case, that's football. Apparently, there was a game that a team won and everybody got excited about that for some reason involving a mysterious event called the Super Bowl. Which is good. I guess.
- Don't cheat by using large fonts to make a small event fill up more space. The first thing that will happen when it is pasted into the column slot will be an adjustment to a standard font and font size. IF YOU WANT TO, THOUGH, TRY PUTTING IT IN CAPS, WHICH TAKE UP MORE ROOM THAN STANDARD, "CORRECT" CAPITALIZATION.
- Don't bang your head on the monitor. It doesn't work nearly as well as it should, although it will result in a fun, floating, slightly tingly hairdo.
- Staring at a blank document is a lousy way to generate ideas. Eventually, your brain may give up and attempt to emulate the blank space, which will get you exactly nowhere.
- "Reruns," while popular on TV, don't work terribly well in the news world.
- And whatever you do, do not enlist a chicken to type your column. They have no sense of plotline development whatsoever. And don't get me started on their syntax...

LETTER

Support Urged for Transportation District

Dear Editor,

The City of Dayton decision to seek a sales tax rate increase and to create a Transportation Benefit District is one that is of utmost importance to our community. You only need to drive the streets of Dayton to realize that there is a need to capture dollars that will only be used for street maintenance.

A yes vote will insure that dollars will be set aside to repair, maintain and reconstruct the streets as necessary. Current city tax dollars and existing budget requirements do not allow sufficient funds or reserve to accomplish a major street repair project. By creating a Transportation Benefit District a street maintenance reserve can be established which will enable priority planning and subsequent repair of our streets. Additionally, the Transportation District funds would provide potential leverage for possible state and federal grant revenue.

I ask that you give favorable consideration to the City Council's decision for a sales tax increase for improved streets in Dayton.

Underage viticulture students may get sipping privileges

By Cooper Inveen
WNPA Olympia News Bureau

OLYMPIA — Lawmakers are considering legislation to allow university students between ages 18 and 21 to taste alcohol in the classroom.

But don't plan a celebratory high-five unless you're an aspiring winemaker.

"It's imperative that someone learning to make wine has the requisite palate to recognize the nuances that are inherent in the product that they are making," said Rep. Larry Springer, D-Kirkland, wine merchant and co-sponsor of House Bill 1004. "This is a product that you don't just talk about: you smell it and you taste it. It would be like building a racecar and never driving it to see how it performed."

Current policy allows the state's community and technical colleges to hold supervised alcohol tastings for culinary, wine technology and beer technology with students under 21, as long as they acquire a permit from the Liquor Control Board.

However this privilege isn't extended to regional and state universities. In fact, it's not even extended to students studying enology, viticulture or the wine business. The House Commerce and Gaming Committee heard testimony on Springer's proposal Monday, Jan. 12, which would allow for all college students in these fields to test their creations.

"In the mid-1990s there were just over 11,000 acres of grape vineyards in the state of Washington, and last year there are over 50,000," said Mike Schwisow, representing the Washington Association of Wine Grape Growers. "Production is expanding rapidly, and we need well-trained people both on the vineyard side and the enology side to support the industry."

Halley Homen of the Associated Students of Washington State University joined Chris Mulick, WSU's director of state relations, in voicing support for the bill. The university's viticulture and enology program has many students within the 18-to-21 age bracket, and is one of the state schools that would be affected most by the legislation.

"Younger students aren't currently able to participate in the same learning opportunities as their peers," Homen said. "This bill would resolve that problem."

These underage students really wouldn't be drinking in the classroom, the bill's sponsor states.

"In 30 years in the wine industry, I've tasted thousands and thousands of wines and I've swallowed very few of them while tasting them," Springer said. "Almost all professional tasters smell, swirl and spit, or you couldn't make it through the day."

FREE CLASSES TO QUIT SMOKING

HEALTH DISTRICT ALSO PLANS SEVERAL HEART HEALTH EVENTS FOR FEBRUARY

By Dian Ver Valen | THE TIMES

DAYTON – A 2013 report published by the Washington State Department of Health states that one in six adults in Columbia County currently smokes cigarettes. Bearing those statistics in mind, the Columbia County Health System's Wellness Program each January is focused on tobacco cessation.

Beginning next week, CCHS is offering a "5 Days to Quit" class that is open to the public. The classes, taking place from Jan. 26-30, will be from 7-8 p.m. in the cafeteria at Dayton General Hospital.

Residents of Columbia County and Waitsburg interested in attending the free classes should contact the Columbia Family Clinic at (509) 382-3200, to reserve a seat.

"This is our second year doing this class," said Columbia Family Clinic Manager Cheryl Skiffington. "I think it was successful last year. We had seven people take the class and at least one is still not smoking. I said when we started that if we had just one person quit, it would be worth it."

Each evening's class this year is taught by a different health district staff member or community health leader.

Monday's class is taught by Kortney Killgore-Smith, an advanced registered nurse practitioner at Waitsburg Clinic; Tuesday will be Kim Emery, a physician's assistant at the Columbia Family Clinic in Dayton; Wednesday will be Dawn Meicher, another advanced registered nurse practitioner at Waitsburg Clinic; Thursday will be Tom Anderson, DGH's new respiratory therapist; and Friday will be Peggy Gutierrez, director of the Columbia County Coalition for Youth and families.

Tobacco cessation is one focus of the health district's Patient Centered Medical Home program. The PCMH model emphasizes partnerships between patients and health care professionals. The goal is to improve patient experience, reduce the burden of chronic disease, and reduce health care costs, according to Skiffington.

The health system's wellness program fits right in with the PCMH model since it addresses such chronic diseases as asthma, diabetes, hypertension, and chronic pain.

February is Heart Month, and CCHS plans to "paint the towns red" – inviting the businesses in both Dayton and Waitsburg to decorate their storefronts. CCHS staff will present a "Heart of the Community" Award to the best storefront in Dayton and in Waitsburg. Last year Waitsburg Clinic and Dingles of Dayton won the award.

CCHS is encouraging everyone in the community to wear red for heart health on Friday, Feb. 6. All local school districts are participating in the event. The health district is also distributing pedometers to students in all three communities (including Starbuck) and offering a step challenge.

A Heart Run will take place at 10 a.m. on Saturday, Feb. 7, at Flour Mill Park on Main Street in Dayton. The $5 entry fee includes a packet of red powder (this is a "powder run") and bib. The race will be timed. One-hundred percent of money collected for the entry fee will go to the American Heart Association.

NEWS BRIEFS

SMITH BROTHERS BUYS WATER WATCH

WAITSBURG – Water Watch Irrigation, which serves about 75 families between Waitsburg, Dayton and Prescott, was recently purchased by Kevin Smith of Smith Brothers' Lawn Care and Landscape. Smith Brothers', based in Walla Walla, is responsible for the installation and maintenance of landscaping at Dayton's Best Western Plus Inn & Suites and has worked on several area residential landscaping projects.

"The decision (to sell) was based on Smith Brothers' reputation, the number of years they have served in the Walla Walla Valley and their same commitment to customer service that was so important to Gary Cook," said Gary Cook family representatives. Ten-year Water Watch Irrigation technician, Rains Dunlap, will remain with the company. Water Watch, established in 1984, specializes in home irrigation needs.

VACANT CITY COUNCIL SEAT IN PRESCOTT

PRESCOTT – The City of Prescott has a vacant seat on the city council. Interested parties should mail or drop a letter of interest to the Prescott City Hall by Friday, Feb. 5, 2015. Letters may be mailed to: City of Prescott, PO Box 27, Prescott, Wash. or dropped at Prescott City Hall (108 "D" Street).

CITY COUNCIL PLANS SPECIAL MEETING

DAYTON – The Dayton City Council has scheduled a special council meeting for 12 p.m. on Monday, Jan. 26, at Dayton City Hall to consider rescinding a previous motion approving an Interlocal Agreement to become part of the Palouse Regional Transportation Planning Organization and considering a new agreement in its place.

things do come up in the permitting process. Permitting is for public input and all kinds of agencies can get involved," he said. "You have to satisfy them if they have regulatory authority. It's a matter of working out those details -- sometimes they work out and sometimes they don't."

The city council will have the opportunity to appoint Bly and Johnson to the planning commission board at the upcoming Jan. 21 council meeting. As The Times went to press Tuesday afternoon, no other applications had been received for the two open positions.

OF LABOR & INDUSTRIES, STATE OF WASHINGTON; U.S. DEPT. OF THE TREASURY, INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE; and also such other persons or parties unknown claiming any right, title, estate, lien or interest in the real property described in the Certificate of Delinquency.

1. A lawsuit has been started to foreclose real property tax liens on the property described in the attachment and/or published notice. Our records reveal that the persons listed in this notice may own or have an interest in this property.

2. Walla Walla County is the owner and holder of Certificates of Delinquency issued December 18, 2012, for the delinquent real property taxes, interest and penalties owed on the real property described in this notice for 2010 through 2014 and prior years.

3. In order to defend against this foreclosure lawsuit, you must appear and defend this action by answering this summons and notice in writing within thirty (30) days after service of this notice and summons, exclusive of the day of service and/or publication, or pay the amount due for taxes, interest, penalties and foreclosure costs. All pleadings and process may be served upon Walla Walla County by serving the same upon the undersigned attorneys at their address stated below.

4. If you wish to seek the advice of an attorney in this matter you should do so promptly so that your written answer, if any, may be served on time.

5. Important -- Judgment and Order of Sale Without Notice. Walla Walla County will apply to the Superior Court for a judgment foreclosing its lien for taxes and an order to sell the property against which judgment is rendered. If you fail to answer or pay the amount due, default judgment will be entered against the property foreclosing the lien for taxes, interest, penalties and foreclosure costs against the land and premises described in the attachment. A default judgment is one where Walla Walla County is entitled to have the application for judgment foreclosing the tax lien granted because you have not responded. Default judgment will be entered without notice unless you or your attorney serve a notice of appearance on the undersigned person, or you request notice as set forth in paragraph 12 below. The judgment would be against the property and not a personal judgment against you.

6. If judgment is rendered against the property either by default or after a hearing by the court, your property will be ordered to be sold. The property against which judgment is rendered will be sold, unless redeemed prior to the day of sale, at a public auction commencing at 9:00 a.m. on a date yet to be determined. The public auction will be held at the Walla Walla County Courthouse.

7. Important -- Redemption Rights. The property may be redeemed from foreclosure, and sale of the property avoided, by paying the delinquent taxes, interest, penalties and foreclosure costs prior to the day of the public auction. The payment must be by cash, cashier's check, money order, certified check or bank check. The right to redeem the property expires the day before the public auction. There is no right of redemption on the day of or after the public auction.

8. Important -- Right to Surplus Sale Proceeds. If the property is not redeemed from foreclosure and you are the record owner of the property on the day of the sale, then you are entitled to any sale proceeds which exceed the taxes, interest, penalties and foreclosure costs.

9. Exemption for Elderly and Disabled. This action will not be continued against your property if you are eligible for deferral of taxes under RCW 84.38 due to age or disability and file a declaration to defer taxes in accordance with the requirements of that chapter. The County Treasurer can assist you in filing the declaration.

10. Interest accrues at the rate of 12% per year. A penalty of 8% of the 2010 through 2014 property tax will be assessed.

11. You may obtain further information regarding the matters set forth above, including the total amount of interest, penalties and foreclosure costs payable at the time of redemption by contacting the Walla Walla County Treasurer's Department, Walla Walla County Courthouse, 315 West Main, Walla Walla, Washington 99362, phone: (509) 524-2750.

12. Request for Notice of Judgment and Sale Dates. You may ask the Walla Walla County Treasurer for the dates on which application for judgment and the public auction will occur. If those dates have not yet been set at the time you contact them, you may request that you be given written notice of those dates. You will not receive a notice of the sale date if you do not request it, and you will not receive any more notices after this one.

COMPLAINT FOR FORECLOSURE OF LIENS FOR DELINQUENT REAL PROPERTY TAXES

IN RE THE PROCEEDINGS OF WALLA WALLA COUNTY FOR THE FORECLOSURE OF LIENS FOR THE DELINQUENT TAXES FOR THE YEARS 2010 THROUGH 2014, AND SOME PRIOR YEARS

COMES NOW the Plaintiff, Walla Walla County, Washington, and for cause of action alleges as follows:

PARTIES

1.1 Gordon Heimbigner, is the Walla Walla County Treasurer and pursuant to RCW 84.64.050 brings this action in the name of Walla Walla County.

1.2 This lawsuit is an in rem proceeding in accordance with RCW 84.64 against all of the property identified in the Certificate of Delinquency filed herein on August 27, 2014.

JURISDICTION AND VENUE

2.1 This complaint for foreclosure of tax liens identified in the Certificate of Delinquency referred to above is properly before this court pursuant to RCW 84.64.050.

2.2 Venue is proper in Walla Walla County pursuant to RCW 4.12.010 because all of the subject properties are located in Walla Walla County.

OPERATIVE AND MATERIAL FACTS

3.1 A Certificate of Delinquency was filed with the court herein on August 27, 2014, identifying all parcels of property in Walla Walla County that had delinquent taxes for the years 2010 through 2014 and some prior years, upon which no Certificate of Delinquency has previously been issued.

3.2 The Certificate correctly shows: (1) a description of the property subject to foreclosure; (2) the tax years for which there are delinquent property taxes; the amount of tax, penalty, and interest due on each property through August 27, 2014; and (3) the known or reputed owner as stated on the tax rolls.

3.3 Interest on the taxes owing accrues at the rate of 12% per year. A penalty of 12% of the 2014 property tax will be assessed December 1, 2014, if the property is not redeemed by November 30, 2014.

PRAYER FOR RELIEF

4.1 Walla Walla County requests that the Court enter judgment foreclosing the tax liens on the property identified in the Certificate of Delinquency filed herein on August 27, 2014, and that the Court enter an order of sale for the same property.

DATED this 16th day of January, 2015.

Task Force Perks Up Dayton's Center

STATE TAX INCENTIVE PROGRAM BENEFITS MANY DOWNTOWN PROJECTS

By Dian Ver Valen | THE TIMES

DAYTON – Have you ever wondered who pays for those gorgeous baskets of flowers that hang in downtown Dayton through the spring and summer? Or who is responsible for the creation of the new playground located next to the Dayton Historic Depot by the caboose?

One part of the answer is the dedicated members of the Dayton Development Task Force and its partner organizations; the other part is – you.

The task force, which has been working to improve downtown Dayton over the last 31 years, is a tax-exempt nonprofit organization. Donations from local businesses and individuals, as well as grants and certain state tax dollars, have supported its many projects over the years – projects such as the major renovation of Main Street in the 1990s and the creation of the public parking lot on East Commercial Street.

But as the organization continues to do its work in Dayton, it continues to need financial support. Two years ago, the task force became eligible to receive money through the Washington Main Street Tax Incentive Program, which allows community businesses to donate a large percentage of their state Business and Occupation (B&O) tax or Public Utility Tax (PUT) specifically toward the economic development of downtown Dayton.

“We are just a speck on the map when it comes to the state pooling these tax dollars and distributing them to organizations by population,” said Betty Lou Crothers, operator of State Farm Insurance in downtown Dayton, and one of the original members of the Task Force.

“This program allows businesses to invest directly into their community,” she said. “It really does work that way, and it’s really cool.”

When business owners go online to the Department of Revenue website, they can click on “Credits and Tax Incentives” and pledge their B&O or PUT tax dollars to the task force and its many planned projects. Once the donation request is approved by the Department of Revenue, businesses are eligible for a tax credit the following year worth 75 percent of the contribution pledged.

This means that if a local business donated $1,000 to the task force before the end of 2015, that business would receive a $750 tax credit on its B&O or PUT taxes in 2016. The tax credit cannot be carried forward, however, and the Department of Revenue does not refund businesses who pledge more than 75 percent of their taxes to the program, according to a flyer provided by the state.

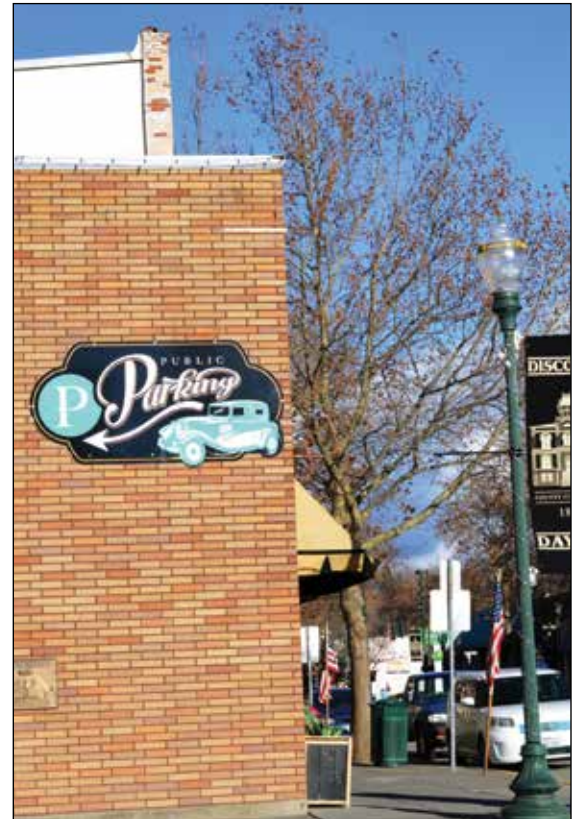

Businesses may pledge money any time during the year; the donation payment is not required until Dec. 31, Crothers said. This allows people to wait until the end of the year to donate, if they need to, and then receive their credit right away, in the following year, she said.

The Main Street Tax Credit Incentive program is a way to guarantee that tax dollars go directly toward local improvement programs through the task force, Crothers said. The task force receives all of the donated funds.

In the first year, the task force received more than $64,000. In 2014, local businesses such as The McGregor Company, Puget Sound Energy, Elk Drug, Banner Bank, Columbia Rural Electric Association, Dayton Mercantile, and the Best Western Hotel donated a total of $88,000. The task force can receive up to $133,000 annually per state limits.

“We just want to really thank all these people and these businesses for their support,” Crothers said. “And encourage more people to participate in the program. It’s really a cool way to directly support the community.”

Weir is Wash. Sportscaster of the Year

Waitsburg native followed in the footsteps of his longtime role model, Bob Robertson

By Dena Wood | THE TIMES

WAITSBURG - Eastern Washington University broadcaster and Waitsburg native Larry Weir is pleased to join the ranks of his longtime role model, Bob Robertson, by earning the title of National Sportscasters and Sportswriters Association Washington Sportscaster of the Year. Weir, who has provided the play-by-play for EWU basketball and football games for over 20 years, was selected as the 2014 award recipient on Jan. 7 and will be honored at a ceremony in Charlotte, N.C., in June.

The 1979 Waitsburg High graduate, who participated in high school basketball, baseball and football, is the son of the Carol Weir and the late Bob Weir. He reflected somewhat regretfully on his high school and post-secondary years in an interview with The Times.

"I was not a very motivated student and really wanted to move on to the next part of life. Looking back today - not a very smart move. I tell kids at every opportunity, to go to college and get a degree," he said.

Weir said that from a very young age - maybe seven or so - he enjoyed listening to Washington State University games with his dad. Those games were called by Robertson, who has received the NSSA Washington Sportscaster of the Year Award 15 times since 1964. Weir learned and honed his play-by-play broadcasting skills by listening to Robertson.

"As I got older I would keep the statistics of the game from Bob's radio call and to this day I use the same method as I started doing 40-ish years ago," said Weir. "I tell young broadcasters to find a style of scoring a game that is comfortable for them. They think I'm nuts because there are computer monitors with all that information at college games. But I say you never know where you might go where there are no monitors, so if you want to relate any statistical information to the listener, they have to keep their own stats and get used to doing it."

Anxious to get started in sportscasting, Weir attended a broadcasting school in Spokane straight out of high school. He attended a Waitsburg district playoff basketball game at WSU, where he sat at the top of Beasley Coliseum and did a play-by-play, speaking into a cassette recorder. Weir sent the demo off to KENE radio in Toppenish, Wash., and got hired because they needed someone to do a play-by-play of a big Native American basketball tournament and their regular broadcaster had a conflict.

"I ended up doing well enough that they offered me the job of News Director. What can an 18-year-old kid tell an adult about the news?" said Weir. He realized he wasn't ready for that job and enrolled in WWCC where he earned his associates degree while driving to Toppenish on the weekends to call football and basketball for two years, which is how he got his start in sportscasting.

Weir attended EWU briefly before leaving school to take a full time radio job. The following years brought work in Yakima, Walla Walla, Colfax, Boise, Spokane, Elko, Nev. and Kingman, Ariz. They included stints with the Spokane Indians and Yakima Bears semi-professional baseball teams. Weir said his longest stay in one place was eight years in Pullman at KQQQ-AM/KHTR-FM, while still doing EWU games on the weekends.

Today, Weir lives in Spokane and travels with the EWU football and men's basketball teams. After nearly a quarter century of calling play-by-play, Weir is considered by many to be the voice of EWU. He recently completed his 24th season calling Eagle football, missing only one of Eastern's 286 football games from 1991-2014. And he missed that game because he was broadcasting Eastern basketball games from Alaska. Weir has called nearly 600 EWU basketball games in his 22 seasons on the job, only missing games due to conflicts with football.

In addition to his play-by-play duties, Weir hosts weekly radio shows, produces the "Eagle Minute" and other advertising spots, does podcasts with EWU coaches and staff and provides oversight of all the content aired during his broadcasts. He also serves as master of ceremonies at many EWU events.

Weir's broadcasts can be heard on 700-AM ESPN in Spokane or on the internet at www.700espn.com.

The best part of the job? Weir said it's that he gets paid to watch games instead of having to pay to watch. "The most enjoyable thing for me has been relationships built with players and coaches - and families of those people as well. That's been a little unexpected.

The internet has made it so easy to listen from anywhere, and people do. The EWU basketball team has players from Australia, Germany and Serbia as well as most western states," said Weir.

Weir, who was a finalist for the Sportscaster of the Year Award in 2010, is pleased to receive the award that Robertson won so many times. "The NSSA award is voted on by media members from within the state, so it's an award voted on by peers, which makes it a little more special in my eyes," he said. Weir is one of only four eastern Washington broadcasters to have won the award, including Frank Herron (Spokane, 1959), Bud Nameck (Spokane/WSU 1994, 2008) and of course, Bob Robertson.

School Board Honored at Jan. 14 Board Meeting

Students recognize board in honor of School Board Appreciation Month

By Dena Wood | THE TIMES

WAITSBURG -- With January's designation as School Board Appreciation Month in the state of Washington, Waitsburg board members were honored at the Jan. 14 school board meeting. Elementary students sent handmade cards, flowers and photos and representatives of the high school National Honor Society served the board punch and cookies. High school ASB members presented each member with a card of thanks from the high school. FFA members had honored board members in December with handmade Christmas wreaths.

Superintendent Carol Clarke presented certificates of appreciation to each member and Chairman Ross Hamann received a special certificate marking his tenth year on the board. Clarke recalled that her very first act after being sworn in as Waitsburg superintendent in 2004 was to swear in Hamann as a school board member.

Other board members include Vice Chairman Randy Pearson who has served 17 years, Christy House who has served three years, Marilyn Johnson who has served five years and Greg Zuger who has served the board for 24 years, since 1991.

Clarke shared an amusing anecdote from kindergarten teacher Pam Nolan-Beasley who had talked with her students about the board and its duties. While checking for understanding, Beasley asked the students what they could tell her about the board. One student raised their hand and said, "They're dead." Beasley thought the confusion must be due to the fact that Martin Luther King Jr. and the other honorees they've learned about have all been deceased. She quickly corrected the misconception.

Board Agenda Items

Elementary Principal Report: Clarke shared that the 4th/5th grade ski program begins in February and that they received a "fantabulous" price from Ski Bluewood of $122 per student to participate in the four-week program. Students will host the concession meal at the Jan. 24 home basketball game to raise funds for the program and Clarke noted that local businesses have offered to make donations to help students who can't afford the cost as well.

Secondary Principal Report: WWCC chorus director Julie Jones invited 16 Waitsburg students to attend a percussion master workshop at the college. Waitsburg's knowledge bowl team has advanced to regional competition. Two seniors essays, by Hannah Grant and Emma Philbrook, were selected by the Elks Foundation to move on to the national level. "It is unusual to have even one essay advance to the national level, but two from one high school is something to brag about," said Principal Wooderchak. The high school will host the two-day Every 15 Minutes program on March 12 and 13. Prom will be March 28.

Athletic Director Report: Waitsburg will host league tournament games on Feb. 7 and Feb. 9.

Transportation Director Report: A new HVAC unit has been installed in a room in Preston Hall. A new freezer door was to be installed on the kitchen freezer Jan. 17. The new phone system is installed and functioning and bugs are being worked out.

Superintendent Report: Enrollment remained steady at 292.2. The Waitsburg Alumni Assoc. and the Waitsburg Historical Society have donated a BOSE sound system to thank the district for their support of the annual alumni banquet and the Fall Festival.

New Business: The board approved revisions to several policies in order to meet state mandated anti-discrimination guidelines. Approved updates to certificated staff contracts as set forth in the recently approved collective bargaining agreement.

A superintendent's review took place during executive session.

Dayton Girls Cruise to Three Wins

LADY 'DOGS ROUT WP GIRLS IN DAYTON FRIDAY, 57-15

By Ken Graham | THE TIMES

DAYTON - The Dayton girls' basketball team lifted their record to 13-2 after three decisive wins last week, including a 57-15 drubbing of the WP Lady Cardinals.

Dayton 45, Garfield-Palouse 28

On Jan. 13, Dayton traveled to Garfield-Palouse, where they easily outplayed the Vikings, notching a 45-28 non-league road win. The Lady 'Dogs took a 23-14 lead into the half of a game that was never close.

"We started out a little slow, but Palouse has always been a difficult place to play," said Dayton coach Clayton Strong. "I thought our third quarter effort was pretty good and we were able to get a lot of kids on the floor in the second half."

Lexie Ramirez dropped in a three-pointer at the buzzer to end the first half, and did it again at the end of the third.

Ramirez led her team in scoring, with ten points, followed by Sidney Andrews with eight. Madison Mings pulled down nine rebounds, and Shayla Currin had three blocked shots.

Dayton 57, WP 15

Dayton hosted WP on Friday night, and the struggling Lady Cards were no match. WP never scored more than five points in a quarter, as the Lady 'Dogs built a 35-7 lead at the half.

"We just got outplayed," said WP coach JT Elsey.

"The Dayton girls have played together for a long time and it shows." Of his team, Elsey said, "I am still seeing progress with the entire team; they make advancements in their game each day."

Strong was pleased with his team's performance. "We were able to play a lot of kids on Friday," he said. "We also had a chance to work on some new things as well."

For Dayton, Andrews led the Lady 'Dogs with 17 points, followed by Mings, with 11. Currin and Jenna Phillips each had six rebounds. Sarah Phillips contributed four steals.

Lexi Brannock led WP with five points, followed by Tayler Jones and Paige Wood with three each.

Dayton 49, Tri Cities Prep, 32

On Saturday night, the Lady 'Dogs hosted Tri-Cities Prep, and won easily, 49-32. Dayton broke out to an early lead, outscoring the Jaguars 15-4 in the first quarter, and taking a 25-11 lead into the half.

"We played really hard on Saturday, especially defensively," Strong said. "I also thought that, especially in the first half, we passed the ball really well and hit the backboards hard. They are a really good team so well feel fortunate to win the game."

Mings led her team with 16 points on Saturday, and Andrews added 12. Mings and Andrews also led the team in rebounds, with nine and eight respectively. Ramirez had four assists and four steals.

On Friday, the Dayton girls hope to avenge their only league loss this year, when they take on league-leading DeSales in Walla Walla. The Lady 'Dogs host Asotin on Saturday.

The WP girls host Asotin on Friday and TCP on Saturday.

Cardinals Outhustle Bulldogs in Dayton

TENACIOUS DAYTON TEAM HAS ITS BEST OUTING OF THE SEASON, GIVING WP A SCARE

By Dan D'Onofrio | THE TIMES

DAYTON - The WP Cardinals came into this road game at 6-6, looking to get above .500 for the season at the expense of Dayton. In a close game that went back and forth for the majority of the evening, it was difficult to tell if the Bulldogs would get their first win or if the Cardinals would get on the plus side of .500.

Though close, the first quarter swung to WP 12-8, largely due to Dayton's eight turnovers. In the second quarter, the Bulldogs were able to limit their turnovers (4), apply pressure defense-creating opposing turnovers, and go on an 8-2 run which included three-pointers from Derek McCleary and Cal Martin.

With less than three minutes left in the half, Dayton found themselves up 14-13 and in control of the game. After a timeout and a quick turnaround, the Cardinals went on a mini run (7-4) to close out the half, leading 20-18.

The Cardinals came out strong to start the third with a 7-0 run, only to be met by a 4-0 run by Dayton. The third quarter ended with the Cardinals ahead 29-22.

This is another classic example where the effort did not meet the output. The entire Bulldog team rallied for most of the game but just could not find 'the touch' required to seal the deal. It was close, which is a good sign going forward.

The turning point came with less than a minute to go in the game. The Cardinals found themselves up by one basket, 35-32, and with possession. With hands up and good defensive positioning, Dayton was ready. A three-point play by the Cardinals, put them in control.

For the game, Devin Acevedo led the Cardinals with 11 points. Travis Crockett added eight points, including two three-pointers. Ben Kleck, playing his first game this year after coming back from an injury, led the Bulldogs with nine points, followed by Derek McCleary with seven.

Dayton Falls to Garfield-Palouse, TCP

AFTER 70-8 ROUT AT GARFIELD, DAYTON BOYS HAVE STRONG GAME VS. TCP

By Dan D'Onofrio
THE TIMES

DAYTON – Entering the week at 0-12 the Dayton Bulldog boys varsity squad remains positive going down the stretch run of their season. With less than two weeks to go in a year that has yet to see a win, the players refuse to simply go through the motions.

On January 13, the Bulldogs headed to the Palouse for a road game against state powerhouse Garfield-Palouse. In a matchup that pitted teams going in opposite directions, the 11-0 Vikings made quick and easy work of the Bulldogs with an overwhelming 70-8 victory.

Dayton had a difficult time dealing with the size and strength of Garfield Palouse and found themselves down quickly, never finding a way to recover. In a game that saw the Bulldogs shoot just 8%, 2 for 25 from floor, the Vikings found a way to convert, shooting 26 for 59 or 44%.

On the heels of the blowout, the Bulldogs put in a much better showing against WP on Friday (see separate story). Still catching their collective breaths, the 0-14 Bulldogs managed to show signs of life, losing to the Tri-Cities

Dayton coach Roy Ramirez continues to give enthusiastic support to his winless team.

Prep Jaguars, 53-36, on Saturday.

The Bulldogs trailed TCP 21-5 after one quarter. And though Dayton again scored five points in the second quarter, they managed to play better defensively, allowing just ten Jaguar points. The Poor shooting and an inability to move the ball, causing consistent turnovers have been the biggest issues facing the Dayton Bulldogs. Both of these factors were evident in the first half, where the 'Dogs found themselves down 31-10.

The Bulldogs came out strong to start the second half. With the help of Ian Smay, Matthew Warren and Zach Waggoner, the they mounted one of their best offensive quarters all season. Though they committed five turnovers, Dayton outscored the Jaguars in the third quarter, 16-11. Dayton played tough defensively, causing several bad shots and turnovers, while offensively the Bulldogs made two rebound put-back shots, one by Tanner Bren and the other by Matthew Warren.

Heading into the fourth, Dayton was down 42-26. The Bulldogs continued to play tough, limit their turnovers to a game low three, but could not find the basket with any regularity in the 53-36 loss.

The Bulldogs were lead by Zach Waggoner's 11 points and Ian Smay's 10. Smay connected on two three-pointers.

At 0-15 the Dayton Bulldogs look for their first victory of the season on Friday at 7:30 p.m. at DeSales.

NEWMAN AND JUST TAKE 2ND AND 5TH AT NW CHRISTIAN INVITATIONAL

Newman falls to Dituri, but looks to Feb. re-match

THE TIMES

COLBERT – WP grapplers traveled to Colbert Jan. 17 to compete in the Northwest Christian High School Crusader Wrestling Classic Invitational. Tristan Newman placed second in the 285-pound division and David Just placed fifth at 138 pounds, with both wrestlers going 1-1.

132-pound Devin Newman dropped two by pin. At 138 pounds, Just lost one by pin before winning against Pomeroy's Chance Robison in a 10-0 major decision. Dejay Lalka, at 145 pounds, dropped two by pin. Heavyweight Tristan Newman won his first match by pinning Austin Fawcett of Rogers in :50. He then faced off against longtime rival Mark Dituri of Mary Walker High School, losing by pin in 5:16.

"Tristan went into his first match against Fawcett with a plan, getting him off balance and taking him down for the first point. Tristan dominated the match and advanced to the finals where he once again faced Mark Dituri. This was a rematch from the finals last week at the Springdale tournament (which Newman won), but Dituri won this week's battle," said coach Lanny Adams. "They will have another chance to meet each other on Feb. 14th at the regional tournament back at Northwest Christian."

HONORING PAST CHAMPIONS

Former Dayton football coach Dave Spray addressed the crowd Friday during the Dayton vs. WP basketball game. Players from Dayton's three state championship teams from the 1994-95 school year were honored on the 20th anniversary of their successes. The Times will more coverage of the championship anniversary in an upcoming issue.

DETERMINATION OF NON-SIGNIFICANCE (DNS) File No. P14-163

Description of Proposal: The project includes the removal and replacement of the Mill Creek Road Bridge at its crossing of Mill Creek, a designated Shoreline, and reconstruction of Mill Creek Road for a distance of approximately 1,925-feet north of the bridge and 5,100-feet south of the bridge. Other project features include the creation of a flood berm on Mill Creek, upstream notification site, and culvert replacement and channel modification to Klicker Culvert (a non-fish bearing tributary to Mill Creek), and various culvert replacements along Mill Creek Road for several other non-fish bearing tributaries to Mill Creek. P14-163

Proponent(s): Walla Walla County Public Works Department
PO Box 813; Walla Walla, WA, 99362

Location of Proposal: The site is located on Mill Creek Road from MP 8.00 to MP 9.40 (Sections 1-2, Township 06 North, Range 37 EWM). The shoreline designation is Rural. The zoning is Rural Residential Mill Creek and Rural Remote 40-acres.

The lead agency for this proposal has determined that it does not have a probable significant adverse impact on the environment. An environmental impact statement (EIS) is not required under RCW 43.21C.030 (2) (c). This decision was made after review of a completed environmental checklist and other information on file with the lead agency. This information is available to the public on request.

The Determination of Non-Significance (DNS) is based on the project as proposed and reflected in the following:
• Environmental Checklist (P14-163), dated 11/10/2014
• Shoreline Permit Application (JARPA form) (P14-164), dated 11/17/2014
Vicinity Map: Mill Creek Road CRP 10-04, dated 10/30/2014

Biological Assessment, dated 06/2014
Conceptual Mitigation Plan, dated 10/2014
Erosion Control Plan, dated 10/31/2014
• Critical areas permit application (P14-161), dated 10/29/2014, and the following attached documents:
Critical Areas Report, dated 06/2014

This DNS is issued under WAC 197-11-340(2); the lead agency will not act on this proposal for fourteen (14) days from the date below. Comments must be submitted by February 5, 2015.

The lead agency has determined that the requirements for environmental analysis, protection, and mitigation measures have been adequately addressed in the development regulations and comprehensive plan adopted under chapter 36.70A RCW, and in other applicable local, state or federal laws or rules, as provided by RCW 43.21C.240 and WAC 197-11-158. Our agency will not require any additional mitigation measures under SEPA.

This DNS may be withdrawn at any time if the proposal is modified so that it is likely to have significant adverse environmental impacts (unless a non-exempt license has been issued if the proposal is a private project); if there is significant new information indicating, or on, a proposal's probable significant adverse environmental impacts; or if the DNS was procured by misrepresentation or lack of material disclosure.
